AMBULANCE MEETING

Another chapter in the ambulance service saga will unfold Monday afternoon at the Williamson County Courthouse.

County commissioners and community officials will meet at 2 p. m. to again discuss furnishing ambulance service for all county residents.

The hearing is scheduled for the county commissioners courtroom on the first floor of the courthouse.

Tree sale set

The Georgetown Optimist Club will begin its annual Christmas tree sale around December 1, E. C. Bouffard, club president, announced.

Bouffard said the club will hold the sale near the Draeger Motor Company's new car lot.

Digging continues

The E. E. Stuessy Company plans to finish its trench digging in the downtown shopping district by Christmas, crew foreman James Pierce said Friday.

Pierce said work is progressing, "although not as fast as possible."

THE STUESSY COMPANY is placing conduits 18 inches under the streets around the Georgetown Square to allow the city and telephone company to remove all overhead wiring.

Electrical and telephone wires to government offices and Georgetown businesses around the Williamson County Courthouse will be rerouted underground.

Pierce cited the water lines crossing the proposed trench routes as reasons for delay in the work.

"WE HAD TO DIG OUT the dirt around the water lines by hand—and that certainly slows us up," he said.

The crew sliced one of the lines Thursday, but city workmen repaired the damage within an hour.

Pierce said he hopes to complete the project by Christmas.

On Monday, he added, the crew will begin work on laying conduits under Main Street.

HE ASKED GEORGETOWN MOTORISTS to cooperate by avoiding driving or parking near construction cones.

The rewiring project will disrupt traffic flow on only one half block of the street at a time, Pierce said.

On Thursday, the work crew suffered a setback when the concrete to cover the conduits was delayed.

the passing glance

By Don Scarbrough

Williamson County is a big place with a growing density of people who sometimes, as in the event of fire or other misfortune, need services immediately if not sooner, as we said in days of yore.

So, when we have our ambulance and fire services nailed down, one way or another, why not try to get a couple of those small surplus military helicopters and utilize them for quick service to the people living miles away from headquarters.

TAKE A FIRE midpoint between Georgetown and Florence, as an example. A 'copter could get there ten minutes sooner than the fastest fire truck and in many cases five or even fewer minutes mean the difference between light and heavy losses. The same is true, certainly, of ambulance service on the highways.

I don't know what the government's policy on those helicopters are, of course, but certainly we have a bunch of them that were used in South Vietnam and other places that have been placed in mothballs. Why not try to get a couple contributed to the service of the people who paid for them, the good old taxpayers of Williamson County?

WHO WOULD FLY THEM? I'll bet my bottom penny that one of our firemen would be happy to take the necessary instructions.

—O—

I am going to be mighty disappointed if I am not delighted with the appearance of the square, once the overhead wires are underground. Those black heavy, sagging wires, suspended from bulky, ugly telephone poles have made it an impossibility to do a first class job at improving the looks of our downtown area. They will be gone in a few days and, from that point forward, we can stop excusing ourselves and really get to work at making our buildings look first rate.

Somehow, an incentive program based on city, school and county taxes might be utilized to encourage people to upgrade their commercial properties. Now, with the current system, the more they run down the lower the tax. One town I heard about is putting a penalty tax on properties that are allowed to deteriorate.

Half and half penalizes city dweller

—Crawford says of ambulance plan

Williamson County Commissioners unofficially offered to go half and half with Georgetown, Round Rock and Taylor to provide county-wide ambulance service at a special meeting Friday morning.

"The catch," according to Georgetown Mayor Joe Crawford, is that property owners in the three towns would be paying twice for a service which would also be provided to their rural neighbors. "The county taxes everyone. Property owners in both the city and rural areas pay county taxes," Crawford emphasized.

Commissioner Wesley Johnson replied to Crawford, "You will have three times as many people in the city using ambulance service as those in the rural areas."

Crawford countered, "I repeat gentlemen, all city property owners pay county taxes."

COMMISSIONER WESLEY FOUST suggested a plan which received a consensus by commissioners. The plan called for the county to purchase 5 ambulance units for the county to be operated by the fire departments of Taylor, Georgetown and Round Rock. The initial capital outlay is estimated to be $50,000. After that initial investment, the county would pay half the losses, projected to be $80,000 annually for the three cities. The other $40,000 loss would be divided on some approved basis by the three cities.

Commissioners agreed that operation by the fire departments would be preferable to a private enterprise.

"I would rather see operation stay in the fire departments so that we would not be assuring profits to a private enterprise," said Foust.

According to a Capital Area Planning Council study, commercial ambulance operators usually require a franchise or contract and a subsidy from local government to continue services.

A. F. Davis, owner of Davis Funeral Home in Georgetown announced in September that he would discontinue his ambulance service on Dec. 31.

The owner of the current ambulance service stated his reasons as being higher operation costs and tighter federal regulations.

At a meeting of city and county officials Thursday afternoon Bill Lane, owner of Bexar County Ambulance Service pointed out that training fire department personnel may take as long as 60 days.

No official budget amendments were passed, but county officials scrounged a total of $81,250 from federal revenue sharing funds for the ambulance service. Ambulance services was allotted 18,750 in June when the budget was approved.

Suggested cuts from the budget included $10,000 for jail improvements, $7500 for a sheltered workshop in Taylor for the Mental Health-Mental Retardation department, and $45,000 for a county-wide livestock and exhibition building.

Commissioners approved a $1.6 million budget for 1975 in October with total expenditures allotted at $1.45 million. However, County Auditor Ben Kurio said that the surplus funds were budgeted to allow for unpredictable increase in prices.

Commissioners have called a meeting for 2 p. m. Monday in the county courtroom. The meeting is open to the public with special invitations being sent to officials from each city in the county.

SOGGY BUSINESS—Water floods the trench as workmen continue the city's rewiring project. While digging an 18-inch trench on 8th Street, the crew pierced a water line. Undismayed, the work continued to reroute the overhead wiring around the Williamson County Courthouse Square.

Week's news in a nutshell

WILLIAMSON COUNTY COMMISSIONERS were urged to accept the financial responsibility for providing ambulance service to families in rural and incorporated county areas. Taylor and Georgetown mayors asked the commissioners Thursday to finance the emergency medical operations for communities across the county.

Later, the commissioners offered a plan whereby the county and municipal governments would share the financial burden for ambulance service.

THE CITY OF GEORGETOWN was accorded bicentennial status Thursday by the national office of the American Revolution Bicentennial Administration. The Georgetown Bicentennial Commission is planning 21 projects to celebrate the nation's independence.

WILLIAMSON COUNTY CATTLE PRODUCERS organized a chapter of the Independent Cattlemen's Association Tuesday night at Jonah. One hundred ranchers rallied against depressed market prices, and Andrew Greinert of Hutto was elected chairman of the county's marketing association.

THE E. E. STUESSY COMPANY began a project to remove overhead wiring from the Georgetown Square Tuesday. The $25,000 project will reroute electricity and telephone wires through conduits under the street. Construction crew foreman James Pierce hopes to complete the work by Christmas.

JARRELL SCHOOL audit of 1973-74 finances revealed Wednesday five procedural and record-keeping violations of Texas Education Agency requirements. Though none of the errors were termed critical, school administrators feared that TEA would not be sympathetic to the school district's situation.

GEORGETOWN INDEPENDENT SCHOOL DISTRICT trustees were told Monday that the completion of the new high school would again be delayed—this time by replacement of mismatched carpet.

Craftsman journeying through G'town area

Vernon Black is a 12th Century craftsman in a 20th Century world.

If his business clients were limited to his hometown San Antonio, Black admits, "My wife and I would starve to death."

But his reputation with church pastors and architects pulls him farther and farther from his South Texas shop to such communities as Clinton, South Carolina; San Diego, California—and even Walburg, Texas.

Vernon Black designs and installs stained glass windows.

Whenever there's a church, there's a marketing potential—and that's why the glasscutting craftsman is visiting the Georgetown area.

This week, Black will finish a year-long, multi-thousand dollar project at the Zion Lutheran Church at Walburg—one of a dozen churches in Williamson County where he has left his mark.

"IT MAKES A FELLA proud to make a church a better place to worship," he said.

"A fella can't be in the stained glass business to get rich," he added. "The people who are in it, love it—they'd do anything for it."

"I never saw a good stained glass man in my life who was not dedicated to his work."

Dedication describes Vernon Black, who worked down 'til dusk replacing the amber windows at the Walburg church with stained glass designs last week.

Black explained that for hundreds of years, the stained glass business "was a matter of a piece of glass and a piece of lead."

He noted that the art was started in the 12th Century, with the first stained glass windows installed in churches in France.

"And the windows are there even today," he added. "Those windows are durable."

THE GLASS TRADE was passed from father to son during the Renaissance. Wherever an outpost of Christianity popped up, the glassman was in demand, Black said.

Until 20 years ago, he explained, "Every glass window was made from a pattern of colored pieces of glass joined together by lead."

Today, however, almost all of Black's commercial work is 'faceted.'

"I begin by placing the glass pieces in a pattern on a flat table," he said. "Then I put a board greased with Vaseline around the perimeter of the pattern."

Black leaves a half-inch gap between the glass pieces. Then he covers the pattern with an epoxy resin.

The cement—instead of lead—holds the glass together.

"In four or five days, the epoxy reaches its maximum strength," Black said. "There hasn't been a hail storm yet that could break a faceted glass window I made."

The price of faceted windows is "quite a bit less than what a leaded window would cost you," he added.

AT ZION LUTHERAN CHURCH, Black is installing 38 glass symbols in the window frames—with each pane costing just $200.

The first pane designed for the Walburg church was put together at the request of 92-year-old Mrs. Anna Jacob.

"The pastor wrote me a letter telling me that Mrs. Jacob was buying the window featuring a lamb for the church, but that she was afraid she might not live to see it finished."

Black chose Mrs. Jacob's window as the first of 38 panes he was contracted to design, and last Tuesday, the craftsman screwed the stained glass pane in place at the Zion Lutheran Church.

"MRS. JACOB and her son-in-law came by to see it yesterday, and she was so happy, she just wouldn't stop shaking my hand."

Black is also working on a project at the First Methodist Church in Georgetown.

"This is a particularly difficult job," he explained. "The original stained glass for the church was made in Europe, and so far, we haven't been successful in matching it."

Only three factories in the U.S. make the colored glass needed for stained windows, Black said.

"All the formulas are kept secret."

Black entered the stained glass business after World War II.

"There was a man in San Antonio named O. R. Wilson, who had a glass studio there since 1920.

"In 1946, brother and I were looking for a job and we went into the business with Wilson. We haven't caught up with our work since then."

Black, his wife and six other employees work at the Black Art Glass studio.

"We're still about a year behind on the jobs we've agreed to do."

THE CRAFTSMAN is contracted for projects all over the country. In Montgomery, Alabama, he points out, one architect firm refuses to contract any other glasscutter for church windows except Vernon Black.

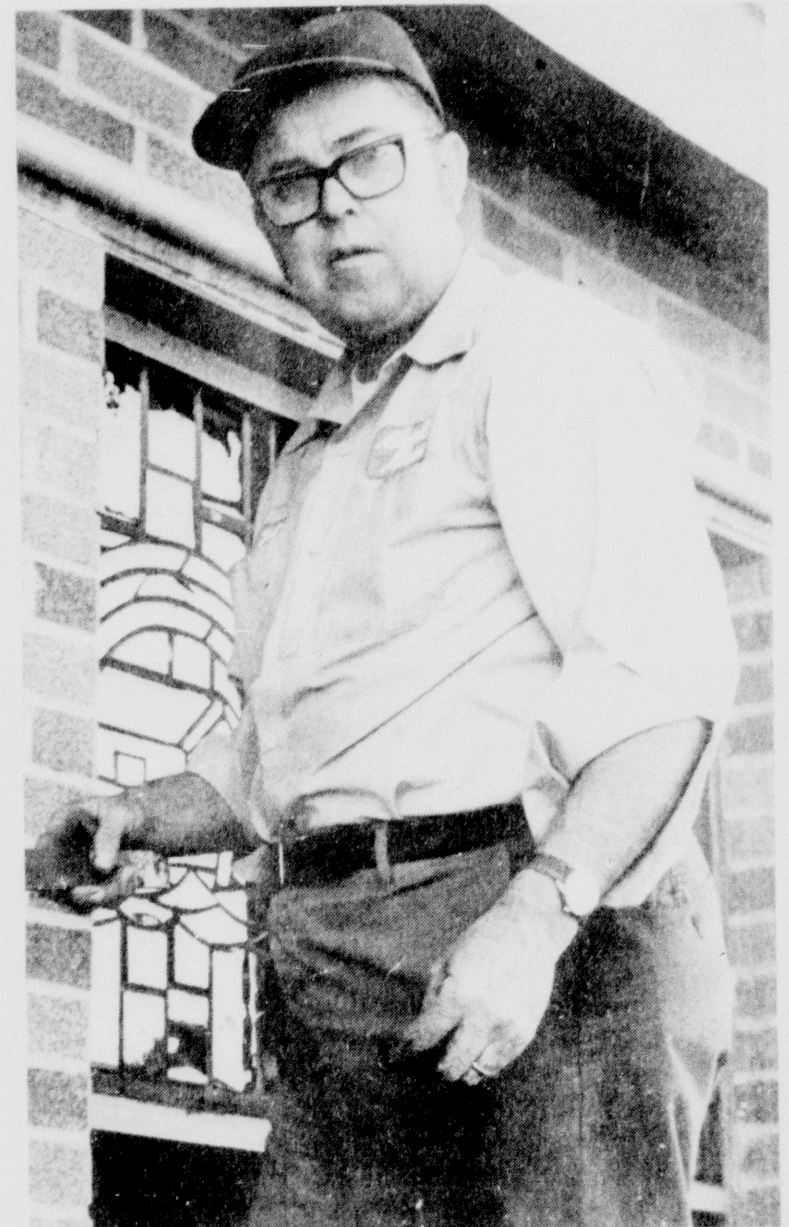

"Georgetown is full of interesting church windows," Black said.

Although there have been very few innovations in leaded stained glass, he explained, faceted glass is considered a revolutionary approach to the business.

"I had a University of Texas professor come into my shop and tell me that all the windows I've put together with epoxy will fall apart in 50 or 60 years."

"I asked him how he came to that conclusion, and he said he's been studying epoxy for a long time, and that it just wouldn't last."

"Well, I won't be around in 50 or 60 years, but if I was, I'd bet he's wrong. Faceted glass holds together as strong as leaded glass—when that epoxy dries, it dries for good."

HOW MUCH IS TOO MUCH WELFARE?

We who are able have an obligation to the old, the ailing and the needy.

The poor, the Bible says, we will always have with us. Some will always need to be cared for by others.

BUT WHEN DO YOU SAY WHEN? How much is too much welfare? What is the future of the welfare state in the United States?

Well, let's see what happened to a nation which had a head start on us: Denmark.

Denmark has had a welfare state since the great worldwide depression of the Thirties. First, the government offered to take care of the needs of the needy. Gradually, politicians elected on that promise felt forced to expand their promises to include the wants of the wanty.

NO NATION CAN AFFORD to pay for those very long.

Today, the average Dane makes about $175 a week, but he immediately gives more than half of that to his government in taxes.

The tax on income is such that there is no incentive to work hard, to earn more, to move up.

Government subsidy for the poor—a tax-free subsidy—makes it more profitable to loaf than to work. Sound familiar?

Wage earners, fed up with supporting the nonworkers, have formed their own political party. In the last election, last December, that "antispending party" won 28 seats in Parliament.

I BELIEVE DENMARK will be forced to hold another election this year. The leader of those opposed to government handouts, Mogens Gilststrup, demands lower taxes "however necessary."

Denmark at a glance:

The nation which used to export only ham and cheese in the past dozen years has become an industrial exporter. But while exports have been rising, imports, especially oil, have been rising faster. Denmark's balance of payments is $2 billion in the red this year.

Foreign debts now total $6 billion, which is one-sixth of that nation's gross national product.

Denmark shares the inflation common to all industrial nations where workers have wanted more for producing less. New housing costs so much that home building is off 50% this year. Retail prices increased 18% last year.

Unemployment, supposedly nonexistent in a true welfare state, is now so high that Danish construction workers are going to Norway to get in on the North Sea oil boom.

THOSE TAXPAYERS who are politically organized have begun what they promise is a takeover. They are saying no, not just to more welfare spending. Gilststrup wants to abolish military spending as well.

When asked what his nation would do if invaded by Russia, he said, "Put up a sign on the beach saying, 'We surrender.'"

With such dogmatism he is winning an increasing following, forcing the incumbent government to compromise on economic issues.

Heretofore in revolutions, the workers rebelled against the profits of the rich.

In Denmark's now revolution, the workers are rebelling against the professional poor.

Both American, but- - -

Both are American, true blue, but there are differences between republicans and democrats!

Lou Erickson of the Atlanta Journal tells us how they differ. . . .

Republicans follow plans their grandfathers made. Democrats make their own plans—and then do something else.

Democrats raise Airedales, taxes, and children. Republicans raise dachshunds, dalmatians and eyebrows.

REPUBLICAN BOYS date Democrat girls. They plan to marry Republican girls, but they figure they're entitled to a little fun first.

Republicans think Santa Claus is a Democrat. So do Democrats.

Republicans fish from the sterns of chartered boats. Democrats sit on the dock and let the fish come to them.

Democrats eat the fish they catch. Republicans hang them on the wall.

DEMOCRATS SUFFER from chapped hands and headaches. Republicans suffer from tennis elbow and gout.

Democrats name their children after currently popular movie and TV stars and sports heroes. Republicans name their children after parents or grandparents, wherever the most money is.

When a Republican makes a highball, he uses a jigger and carefully measures out the whisky. A Democrat just pours.

Republicans tack up signs everywhere saying, "No Trespassing" and "Private Property" and things like that. Democrats, with their picnic baskets full of beer, start fires with the signs.

Republicans tend to pull down their shades though there is seldom a reason why they should. Democrats ought to but don't.

Maternity clause OK'd by trustees

Though it's as American as apple pie, too much motherhood is knocking holes in the Jarrell School faculty.

After a fourth teacher announced that her baby is due this school term, the superintendent discussed the population explosion with trustees in closed session Wednesday.

"They ribbed me a bit," first-year Superintendent Albert Lytle remarked.

"Before I came here, the school board didn't face this problem."

Trustees didn't bring back the chastity belt, but they did vote to include a pregnancy clause in the school's policy manual.

The maternity leave policy unanimously approved by the all-male school board allows a teacher 10 days to recuperate, "after which the teacher will forfeit all pay for the duration of the absence."

The substitute instructor will be awarded the pay due the teacher, the board decided.

Of Jarrell's 17 female faculty members, four have had or will have babies this year, Lytle said.

QUICK RESPONSE AND LITTLE DAMAGE—The Georgetown fire department responded to a call Thursday at 11:45 A.M. about five miles west of Georgetown on Highway 29. Due to quick action, the small grass fire on the property of Maude Patrick did little damage. No injuries were reported.

Washington Merry-Go-Round

Sweet Tooth is Hurting

WASHINGTON — Candy may still be dandy, but its cost may soon make it a luxury only the rich can afford. Sugar, the prime confectionary ingredient, is now rivaling oil as the fastest rising commodity on the world price index. A five-pound bag of sugar cost 88 cents last year. Today, it runs nearly $2.50.

The reasons are complex, but a large share of the price rise can be laid to unscrupulous brokers and greedy sugar refiners.

The brokers set themselves up as middlemen, contracting desperate customers and offering them sugar. Once they get an offer, they get the sugar from a supplier they have worked a deal with. The increased costs go into the broker's pocket.

Many legitimate sugar refiners are also taking advantage of the short sugar supply to raise prices well above their costs. Sugar industry profits have ballooned by as much as 500 per cent.

Of course, market pressures have played the most significant role in the price boost. Worldwide sugar consumption has simply outpaced sugar production. The oil-rich Arab nations have helped inflate demand, bidding up prices on the international market to satisfy a newly developed sweet tooth. And poor crops forecasts around the world mean further increases in the future.

In America, sugar's outrageous price has consumers either boycotting or hoarding the product. Only dentists and nutritionists, it seems, are heralding the sugar pinch. The food experts have found that sugar is the only food without nutritional value. And the dentists, of course, hope that less sugar will mean fewer cavities.

GETTING TO KNOW YOU: President Ford travels to the Soviet Union this week with a head full of advice from Secretary of State Henry Kissinger.

Kissinger gave Ford a favorable report on his secret 19-hour talks with Soviet leader Leonid Brezhnev. The Soviet leader was cordial but cautious, Kissinger reported. He clearly wants to continue the Russian-American détente.

But Brezhnev made it clear that he wanted to get to know the new American President before substantive talks get underway. The first Ford-Brezhnev However, the two leaders will undoubtedly today into some ticklish areas.

Ford, for example, is concerned about the Soviet buildup of mobile missiles. These missiles can be moved by train, truck or plane. They can even be fired on the move. It would be almost impossible, then, to set up an advance defense system.

The first dramatic test of the new Russian missile was conducted when Kissinger was in Moscow about a month ago. Now Ford is prepared to warn the Soviets that they are risking a new round in the arms race unless the two superpowers agree on restraints. For once both countries start producing mobile missiles, even the most sophisticated surveillance couldn't keep track of how many mobile missiles the other side had, or where they were deployed.

The Vladivostok summit, however, is unlikely to produce any major Soviet-American agreements. Rather, it will serve to reinforce the foundations of détente.

SHEIKHS AND STARVATION: The oil price squeeze has brought fabulous wealth to a few Arab sheikhs. It has also brought starvation to millions of impoverished people.

High oil prices increase the cost of fertilizers and insecticides, which have a petroleum base. This has reduced food production.

Yet an estimated 400 million — twice the population of the United States — don't have enough to eat.

The United States is the world's greatest food producer. Unlike the oil producers, the United States has been generous with its surplus food. For 30 years, the United States almost alone has kept the impoverished from starving.

Half of the world's bulk food exports still come from the United States. Of this, a whopping billion dollars' worth of food is given away or is sold to poor countries at low cost.

In contrast, the reckless greed of the oil sheikhs is costing lives. They have been showing up at the world's pleasure spots scattering money like autumn leaves. Meanwhile in places like Bangladesh and India, people are being turned away from the bread lines because they have no money for food. And in Africa, millions are starving because there isn't enough food to go around.

COMPACT CRUNCH: The four major auto manufacturers have spent $1 billion retooling factories to produce smaller cars. Yet transportation officials are having second thoughts about small cars.

It is true that small cars consume less fuel and, therefore, are more economical to operate. But private studies show that small cars get involved in more accidents and are more costly to repair. The average damage claim after a collision, according to the studies, is $506 for a compact car compared to only $433 for a full-size car.

A front fender, which cost $61 to repair in 1967, now costs $114. A rear fender, which cost $150 to repair in 1967, now costs $167. And a trunk lid, which cost $93 to repair in 1967, now costs $132.

Costs like these have started a move in Congress to regulate the auto repair business.

SLOGANS U.S.A.: In times past, Americans have been able to distill the cause of the hour into a phrase, a rallying cry, a stirring slogan to reaffirm our faith in America. A slogan is needed to capture the spirit of America past, present and future. It ought not to be the forced effort of an advertising executive, but rather it should be the spontaneous outpouring from an average citizen.

Therefore, the Copernicus Society of America, in conjunction with the Bicentennial Commission, is sponsoring "Slogans, U.S.A." So far, the response has been heavy and heartwarming. Slogans have poured in from around the nation. But more ideas are needed, so send your slogan suggestion to: "Slogans, U.S.A.," Box 1976, Washington, D.C.

It's time to reaffirm the dream.

Letters to the Editor

Sir,
In response to Ed. in Sun. Sun Nov. 17.

Strong feelings rose in me when I read your ed. comment about the "recession" in progress in this country. I agree with one point: the press and television — in fact — all the media — seems to take satisfaction in making quick judgments and dramatic statements — and I fear their power. The danger lies not in denying the developments in our economy, but in letting the media's impressive power of persuasion obscure the grass-root problems we face.

To accept the commentators' views without self-examination is to turn away from our most valuable resource — our own good sense. Do you really think that what we need is a great leader? That's what the Germans thought when they accepted Hitler. Didn't we come close enough to that once already? A dictatorship — is what we would end up with if we insist the problem is administrative, and even a benevolent dictatorship would be a horror to me.

To quote the editorial: "there is nothing we lack except the proper goals and the correct procedure." I agree with the statement, but not in the context in which it was stated. You are right. We are rich and lucky. Rich in resources and lucky to have a history of high spirit and inventiveness. Turn off your T.V. and look around. High power bills? We can use less — individually — or provide our own — individually or in small community group. Solar power, wind generators, better designs for less waste. We have the best resource of all on our shoulders — and our worst enemy is the trend toward asking others for easy solutions. Please don't look to the "state" for the answers — you will be selling your and my soul.

About the economic situation: anybody who lived in pre-depression times or who has studied it knows the slump resulted from speculation in the stock market. Now that is against the law. But speculation is rampant in the land market, the food market, the textile industry as a result of our staggering consumption rate. It seems to me the recession is not only possible, but impossible to avoid — maybe already here.

Does it scare me? Doing without doesn't scare me, but the reactions of people scare me. Many adults raised in post WW II days feel that affluence is their due — and get nasty when told they must tighten their belts. Look at the young people who would rather steal a ten-speed bike than do without.

Really, I'm excited and optimistic about the possibilities the next 20 years holds for me, and for my son, now 5 months old. We could be so much closer

AUSTIN NOTEBOOK

AUSTIN—While the political and financial writers are trying to figure out why the banker-governor, Dolph Briscoe, would keep $15,000 cash in his closet for a couple of years without putting it up for interest because he was trying to give it back to another banker, it's time to report that a mystery much longer-standing may have been solved.

When Cabeza de Vaca landed in Texas in 1528 for a stay of substantial length, he found the Carancahua Indians along the coast, using what he called "asphaltum" to stick heads on their arrows and to plaster their woven pots so they would hold water. The "asphaltum" was picked up on the beaches, he reported. Several hundred years later, a wave of black tarry globs were found on the beaches of South Texas, leading to speculation of offshore pollution by oilwell drilling.

But now an Aggie submarine may have solved the mystery.

It is the "Diaphus", named for a species of lantern fish with a luminous nose, which can and has been inspecting the bottom of the Gulf of Mexico as deep as 1,200 feet.

Dr. Richard A. Geyer, head of the Texas A&M University oceanography program, reports that the "Diaphus" is on its second cruise right now, after an earlier cruise brought back scientific proof of seeps of natural gas from the Gulf bottom.

Dr. William Sweet found and documented the gas seeps in two areas and believes they may have found strong indications, that the presence of oil and gas does not have the effect on marine life that had been feared.

"Now we find gas seeps in the midst of thriving plant and animal life," Dr. Sweet reports. "The ecosystem isn't disturbed, so evidently the gas leaks aren't bothering the organisms or the reefs."

In The University and the Sea, Dr. Sweet is quoted as saying that he believes that much of the oil and tar found on Texas beaches originated from these seeps and that the natural oil leaks are a major source of tar balls floating in the ocean.

"Scientists believe that no more than one per cent of the oil that has ever been generated becomes trapped in reservoirs," Dr. Sweet commented. "Of the rest, some is squeezed out of the source beds and probably migrates through the sediment to the surface."

So, it may be that the A&M submarine has solved that mystery of where the "alphaltum" came from on the beaches where Cabeza de Vaca met the Indians.

That's a mystery, because the home folks are fussing and fuming about the energy shortage, and if A&M has developed a submarine which can find gas seeping out of the ocean floor as part of a project for the Federal government, maybe somebody ought to put the "Diaphus" to work finding some gas and oil in the Texas offshore lands, where production is still fairly slight.

Of course, if the "Diaphus" could bring us back a good explanation of how Moses managed to make the Red Sea roll back, it might be permissible to make the trip to Egypt.

Take It Easy — But Take It!

Dear Dolph:
Don't guess its exactly news to you, Dolph, but you're having image trouble. That Mr. Clean (!) image is about to become Mr. Clean (?). You're probably getting all the legal advice you need. And it must be pretty good legal advice, seeing as how it kept you free from getting your deposition took til after election day.

So I'm not trying to give you legal advice. I want to give you some image advice. I figure you're really needing it right about now. I've been following the newspapers and TV news accounts on how Sissie Farenthold's lawyers have stayed on your trail night and day for the last nine months, until they finally treed you down there in a motel room in Uvalde. Must be aggravating to have to go under oath and answer a lot of questions about alleged shady transactions in your campaign financing.

I'd hate to see your "Mr. Clean (!)" and "I - kept - my - promise" image fade, Dolph. It's about all you got working for you. So I'd suggest you study what happened to Spiro Agnew and Dick Nixon and their glowing "Law and Order" image. You probably know that those images are gall to the general public today. Why? Because instead of stepping out and making a clean breast of their knowledge of wrong - doing, they both tried to palm off all those pieties about not knowing what had been going on! Don't you go off down that road, Dolph.

You're best bet, image-wise, right now is to clear up these shoddy allegations — pronto. After Sharpstown and Watergate, the people are suspicious of self-righteous pieties. They want candid, straight talk. You are the chief executive officer of the state. They want to know, and have a right to know, whether you have been a party to shady deals and violation of the state's laws.

Even more compelling than your "I kept my promise," is the fact that you took a solemn oath to see that the laws of Texas are enforced. Now you stand accused of having violated that oath. That's mighty hard on your "Mr. Clean" image, Dolph.

So whatever legal dodging and ducking your lawyers advise, you keep your image in mind. Take the initiative. Forget Sissie Farenthold's making you do it through the courts. Just stand up on your own, look the people in the eye, and give them the straight facts on that campaign financing.

If you're going to be Mr. Clean (!) you're going to have to come clean, Dolph.

Yours,
JHF

RANDY STUMP gets a two pointer from the corner over the outstretched arms of tall Dragon James Yancey. But they came all too seldom for the Eagles, who had a 23% average from the field and they lost 43-69.

MARK ZIMMERHANEL attempts to work the ball in a little closer, but has to contend with heavy traffic. The Eagles had to take most of their shots from way out in order to get over the tall Dragons.

their game to Salado 18-46, and lost to Leander 28-41.

Round Ball Round Up

High School basketball really got underway in the area this past week. The Junior High schools have been playing a couple of weeks. Reports of available results are as follows:

GEORGETOWN:

The High School boys played in Round Rock Tuesday night, dropping all three games to the Dragons.

The Eagle Varsity lost to the Dragons 43-69. The big difference was the size. The Dragons are big and tall. The Eagles demonstrated a lot of quickness and hustle, but there was just no way to overcome the enormous size differential. Leading the scoring for Georgetown were Alfred Girard with 22 points, Bill Jones 6, and Randy Stump 5. For Round Rock Yancey scored 27, Carlson 15, and Lively 12. Stump led in rebounds for the Eagles with 10.

The Eagle Junior Varsity dropped a close game to the Dragons 33-36, after leading most of the way. The teams were tied 5-5 after the first quarter, led 17-13 at the half, and 26-22 after the third quarter.

Scoring for the Eagle JV's were David Giese 7, Fritz

VFW Auxiliary gives bleachers

The Women's Auxiliary of the Veterans of Foreign Wars has awarded a $1000 contribution toward the construction of bleachers for the Little League baseball field under construction in the VFW Park.

Daehne 6, Troy Sanderfer 6, Kevin MacEwan 4, Larry Maynard 4, Marvin Schwausch 3, Bobby Newberg 2, and Scott Fairburn 1.

The Georgetown Freshman lost 51-60 to Round Rock. High point man in the game was Joe Jenkins with 17 for the Eagles. Also scoring for the Eagle Frosh were Dexter Satterfield with 12, David Jackson 8, John Babicki 6, Brad Miller 4, David Hays 2, and Shane Gower 2. Babicki led the Eagles in rebounds with 10, and Satterfield contributed the most assists with 5.

For the Dragons Trull scored 14 points, Richards 11, Jordan 10, and Mann 9. The Eagles played on even terms with the Dragons the last three quarters, but could never overcome the 9 point deficit created in the first quarter.

The Georgetown High School girls played Pflugerville and lost both the Varsity and JV games. The Varsity went down 40-80, and the JV's dropped their 28-84.

The Georgetown Junior High girls have played four games.

The 7th Grade fems have won 3 and lost 1. They defeated Liberty Hill 27-17, Burnet 33-21, Liberty Hill 31-22, and lost to San Marcos 18-20.

The 8th Grade girls have won 1 and lost 3. They lost to Liberty Hill 18-38, Burnet 26-35, Liberty Hill 21-27, but defeated San Marcos 28-15.

FLORENCE-JARRELL:

The Jarrell girls defeated Florence 41-29. The Florence boys "A" team beat Jarrell 62-24, and the Florence boys "B" team defeated Jarrell 34-7.

LIBERTY HILL:

The Liberty Hill Junior High boys defeated Lometa 53-36. High point man for the Panthers was Roy Montemayor with 17. David Hernandez had 10.

The Panthers beat Salado 31-25. Mark Walker was high scorer with 12 points and Lee Jackson had 7.

The Liberty Hill girls dropped

LAND OF PLENTY

★ THANKSGIVING FOR...

- PROSPEROUS NATION
- FOOD
- A STRONG NATION
- FREEDOM OF WORSHIP

Pages could be filled with ways that God has blessed us, and we should be continually thankful for God's goodness. At this time, however, we should pause from our daily workday habits and in unison, give special thanks to God, that we still have freedom of worship.

Attend church this Thanksgiving weekend

EVERYONE IN THE CHURCH
THE CHURCH IN EVERYONE

The Church is God's appointed agency in this world for spreading the knowledge of His love for man and of His demand for man to respond to that love by loving his neighbor. Without this grounding in the love of God, no government or society or way of life will long persevere and the freedoms which we hold so dear will inevitably perish. Therefore, even from a selfish point of view, one should support the Church for the sake of the welfare of himself and his family. Beyond that, however, every person should uphold and participate in the Church because it tells the truth about man's life, death and destiny; the truth which alone will set him free to live as a child of God.

TP&L names new executives

Two executive changes at Texas Power & Light Company have been announced by J. F. Skelton, TP&L president.

Joe Nelson of Terrell has been named TP&L's Southern Division manager, succeeding Leon Loveless who will become manager of power at the Company's Dallas headquarters.

Nelson, who will office in Waco, served as Terrell TP&L district manager since 1968. He joined the Company in Dallas in 1963 and later served in various sales capacities in the firm's Paris district.

Nelson, a native of Bowie, attended Denver City, Texas, public schools and was graduated from Texas Tech University with a bachelor of business administration degree.

Nelson is married to the former Maxine Conley of Clarksville, and the couple has two children, Jay, 4, and Tom, nine months.

Loveless served as TP&L's Southern Division manager since 1970. He was also TP&L manager in Garland and district manager in Sherman.

PTA delegates home from meet

Public school finance reform, school bus safety, alcohol and drug abuse were three of the many timely topics discussed during the 65th Annual Texas PTA Convention in Corpus Christi, which was attended by Mr. and Mrs. Wm. C. Holmans and Edward G. Muford of Georgetown.

Several thousand delegates representing every region of Texas converged on this Gulf Coast city for the three-day idea session, Nov. 13-15.

Fifteen workshops covering 11 topics were participated in by delegates. Each workshop was presented by selected professionals, knowledgeable on each particular subject.

Responding from the legislative workshops, Muford said, "If you want to do something about child abuse, write your legislators, both state and federal."

Guest speakers for the confab were Lt. Gov. George Nigh of Oklahoma, L. P. Sturgeon, Special Consultant to the Texas State Teachers Association, John McDonald, Director of Programming for the Texas Alcoholism Commission, Dr. A. F. Swearingin, Senior Minister of the Parkway Presbyterian Church of Corpus Christi and Mrs. Tony Patch of California, National PTA vice-president of Region VIII.

Retired clerk Charles Beaver dies Wednesday

Charles O. Beaver, 79, son of A. C. and Cynthia Brooks Beaver retired County Clerk and Probate Clerk of Williamson County died Nov. 20 at the Georgetown Medical and Surgical Hospital.

He was a native of Georgetown.

Funeral services were held Nov. 22 at 2 p. m. at the Davis Chapel with burial in the I.O.O.F. Cemetery.

Rev. Warren Hall officiated. He is survived by his wife, Mrs. Elizabeth Beaver, two nieces—Mrs. Peggy Gaddy of Georgetown and Mrs. Oras Ann Salibo of Clear Lake City, two nephews—Commander Seth E. Barron of Groton Longpoint, Connecticut and Glenn Barron of Houston.

Pallbearers were: William S. Lott, Ben W. Kurio, August H. Bosshard, John Lyons, Kenneth Jordan, Edward Lee Evans, Neal Boydston and Dick Cervenka.

Resolution passed honoring Holmstrom

Honoring the memory of Thomas W. Holmstrom and paying tribute to his 32 years as a member of the Williamson County Board of School Trustees, the Board of Williamson County School Trustees passed a resolution of appreciation.

Holmstrom died on October

19 while he was serving as chairman of the board of school trustees of Williamson County, a position he had filled since April of 1963.

The resolution was signed by J. T. Atkinson, R. F. Holubec, Emory Blackman, Kerney Wolf, and County School Superintendent Ben Rosenblad.

Peggy Stork at Chamber office

Peggy Stork, a Georgetown High School senior, is the newest employee at the Georgetown Chamber of Commerce office.

She is working part-time under the Vocational Office Education Program.

Chamber manager Gene Martinka said the VOE students will work with the Chamber through December.

Court ruling upheld

The Texas Supreme Court has upheld a civil case ruling by 26th District Court Judge Kirby Vance.

In so doing, the high court reversed a decision in the same case by the Texas Court of Civil Appeals.

The case was heard in the district courtroom in Georgetown, and the litigation involved the notes resulting from the sale of land.

The notes were made payable to the wife of Williams B. Evans who, the suit claimed, owed money to Dale E. Muller.

Evans said the notes were solely the property of his wife and not subject to garnishee action on his debt.

Judge Vance ruled the notes community property and subject to claims by Muller.

The Court of Civil Appeals disagreed with the ruling, saying that payment on the notes was subject to use by the wife only.

The matter reached the Texas Supreme Court, which reversed the decision of the Civil appeals court and affirmed Vance's ruling.

The American Legion Auxiliary No. 317 of Jarrell hosted the members and the American Legion members to a turkey and dressing supper Sunday, Nov. 17.

Athletic spending higher than income at Jarrell School

Athletic expenditures for Jarrell School football and basketball programs outpaced gate receipts and other income by $2631, trustees learned Wednesday.

The Jarrell High School six-man football team, with four home games and six away games last season, grossed $1868. Superintendent Albert Lytle reported to the school board.

Four junior high games added $352, for a total football income of $2220.

Paid athletic expenses, however, now total $1743, including $400 for physicals, $750 for lights, $440 for insurance, $555 for University Interscholastic League fees, $280 for meals, $200 for contracts, $20 for district fees, and $341 for officials.

With three bills outstanding, the net income for the Jarrell Independent School District is $477.

Bills outstanding total $3398 — with $1394 to the Centex Sports Center, $116 to the Athletic Repair and Manufacturing Company, and $1885 to H&H Sporting Goods.

The three firms supplied equipment for Jarrell's 11-man junior high football team, and for the junior high boys and girls basketball teams.

Athletes will contribute a total $290 toward the purchase of that equipment, Lytle said. The school district will pay the remaining $3108.

After subtracting the net football income—$477—from that outstanding bill, Lytle said, the school district still must come across with $2631.

The school board was disappointed with the deficit, and Lytle explained that inclement weather hurt football attendance.

Trustees also were unhappy with the $50 the school district garnered from away-game gate receipts.

"We can't even run the buses for that," School Board President Jimmy Sybert said.

Lytle added, "I had been accustomed to at least a $100 guarantee for away games," when he was superintendent at San Saba.

The Jarrell Independent School District cannot renegotiate its contract until the 1976-77 school year.

Next football season, the high school team will play six home games and four away games.

Trustee Jerry Cassens suggested that the Homecoming game be held earlier in the year to boost attendance.

In Jarrell's four home games last fall, the school district received gate receipts of $394 against $415 against Oglesby, and $466 against Buckhouts.

Each of the six away games put just $50 in the school district's pocket.

Junior high football proceeds included $122 in the Salado game, $50 against Holland, $115 in the Florence matchup, and $65 in the Liberty Hill game.

Basketball income, with just two games played this year, totaled $120, Lytle reported.

The school district earmarked $500 for the athletic fund this year, Lytle said, the board "is going to have to amend the budget."

Superintendent Albert Lytle told the board the school tax assessor needs the calculator.

The tax assessor is now borrowing a machine for his figuring from Jimmy Sybert, president of the school board.

The Jarrell School Board agreed to pay $300 for a printing calculator Wednesday.

Trustees voted 5 to 1 to purchase the machine from the National Cash Register Company.

135 cases in limbo, atty. says

At the end of every month, the Williamson County Court clerk reports the number of criminal and civil cases left on the court docket to the Texas Civil Judicial Council.

And at the end of almost every month, Court Clerk Neal Boydston finds that the number of cases on the docket climbs higher and higher—reaching 227 on October 31.

County Attorney Norman Manning is the first to admit that the court docket is overloaded. But he explains that the "227" figure entering November is misleading.

"Most of the cases are on the docket because there's no place else to put them," Manning explained. "Although they're listed as pending cases, there's nothing I can do to prosecute, and nothing the judge can do to dispose of the case."

For example, he said, in 63 cases now on the docket, the suspect hasn't been arrested.

In another 21 cases, the suspect has forfeited the bond money posted at the time of arrest. "We've collected the money, and we're still waiting for the person to be arrested again."

Manning said he can't prosecute 47 of the marijuana possession cases on the docket.

Jarrell players get all-district

A meeting of District 8B Six-man football was held on November 19, 1974, at Dyer's Restaurant in Gatesville, Texas.

because the confiscated substance is still in Austin pending analysis at a Department of Public Safety laboratory.

Two or three cases are listed on the county court docket, Manning added, because they are under appeal to a higher court.

The following players were selected for honors from the Jarrell football team: Gordon Crum and John Cassens, All-District; Raymond Nemecek, James Hughes, Joe Schwertner, and Steve Bamsch, Honorable Mention. All-District Gordon Crum, John Cassens, and James Hughes were selected for the All Star Game.

Jonesboro, the winner of the district will play Tolar in a Bi-District game at Meridian on Friday, November 22, at 7:30 p.m.

Liberty Hill NEWS

BY HOWARD N. WILSON

Some people fail to appreciate the value of athletics in the school. It is undeniable that the athletic programs are expensive and sometimes do not pay their own way, but the competition is invaluable in building bodies and characters. Considering the good that is derived from athletics, it is safe, we feel, to conclude that everyone should have the opportunity to participate to the maximum of his ability.

The enrollment in the Liberty Hill Schools reached a high of 331 students this week. This is an increase of 72 students over the 259 students who were enrolled in our school last May. The average daily attendance for the nine week period just completed was 285. In comparison, the average daily attendance for the 1973-74 school year was 234 students.

The brick on the outside walls of our new high school building and the inside dry wall is progressing at a steady clip. Our new high school will include a band hall, a vocational shop, a homemaking lab, a science lab, a commercial subjects room, a resource room, and eleven conventional classrooms.

On the 19th, the ninth grade girls played Leander in a 41 to 28 loss for Liberty Hill.

The menu for the cafeteria for Monday, December 2, will be: tomato soup, cheddar cheese, vegetable soup, crackers with peanut butter, Jello and milk; Tuesday, December 3, spaghetti with meat sauce, lettuce and tomato salad, Thousand Island Dressing, apple rings, and gingerbread with topping.

The annual meeting of the stockholders of the Liberty Hill Water Supply Corporation will be held at the Liberty Hill school cafeteria on Monday evening, December 2, 1974, at seven o'clock. All stockholders are urged to either attend in person, or execute a proxy so his vote can be counted. Please attend this meeting if it is at all possible!

Mr. Harry McKnight of our town has announced that he will have his Law Office in Suite 218 of the Executive Office Terrace at 111 West Anderson Lane in Austin. Mr. McKnight, of course, can be contacted at his home in the Liberty Hill.

We want to CONGRATULATE Mr. McKnight upon his being admitted to the Bar and opening his new office. We extend our sincere wishes to him for much success!

Mr. and Mrs. Gene Seward and daughters, Angela and Michelle, of Conroe spent last week-end in the home of their parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. K. Seward. Mr. and Mrs. Bill Seward and Steven Seward came up from Austin to be with their relatives for this gathering.

The things that really count in every man's life are the things he does for others, and we must remember that the human race is inter-dependent. "No man is an island unto himself!"

P.S. Mrs. Willie Hickman had her ninety-third birthday anniversary a couple days ago, and we wish her many more!

First Baptist Church members met for their annual mission emphasis with a covered dish supper on November 12. Rev. Dan Sharpley missionary on furlough from Brazil was the speaker; he also showed many cruises from Brazil.

The "Jackets for Jesus" youth team from Howard Payne University in Brownwood will lead a revival at the First Baptist Church November 22-24.

Mrs. J. A. King, Mr. and Mrs. Tom Atkinson made a business trip to Happy the last of the week.

David Merideth and sons were Saturday visitors in Georgetown.

Mr. and Mrs. R. M. Smart spent the weekend with Jack Dock Smart in Rosenberg.

Mrs. Clyde Taylor and Mrs. W. H. Hamilton were in Georgetown Saturday.

Girl Scout Troop 136 honored their mothers with a tea at the home of Mrs. Larry Clark Saturday. The tea was a merit project of the troop and each member received their Hospitality badge.

Those present were Mrs. Billy Futrell and Traci, Mrs. Morris Price and Lee Ann, Mrs. John Whittenberg and Vonda Greene, Mrs. Brook Isbell and Pam, Mrs. Floyd Hosman and Kim, Mrs. Lyndell Brizendine and Teri Lynn, Mrs. Olin Whittenberg and Vickie, Mrs. Louis French and Michelle, Mrs. Larry Clark and Melanie and Terri Brook.

WARD-BRIZENDINE Miss Nancy Rae Ward daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Seymour Brizendine were married at the Ward home Saturday evening. Elder Dan Nauman read the double ring ceremony before a setting of candelabra and green garlands.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a formal gown of satin-peau with long sleeves, fashioned by her mother. The empire bodice was overlaid with lace and featured a scooped neckline with rolled collar. A banded waist accented with fabric bow in the back held her lace train. She carried a white Bible topped with glanillas and pink streamers. Her jewelry was an opal necklace, a gift of the groom, and a cameo necklace belonging to her grandmother.

The matron of honor was her sister, Mrs. David Brizendine, best man was David Brizendine, cousin of the groom. Soloist was Miss Amy Ward, sister of the bride, and Miss Karen Brizendine, sister of the groom registered the guests. A reception was held in the home after the ceremony. The couple will make their home in Florence where the bride is employed at the United State Bank and the groom is a painter.

Mrs. Quinnell Beahman and Wallace were in Georgetown to visit Willard Suttles at the hospital the first of the week.

Joe Earl Massey was in Killeen Sunday where he was one of the hosts honoring his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Earl Massey, on their golden wedding anniversary.

Those present were Mrs. Billy Futrell and Traci, Mrs. Morris Price and Lee Ann, Mrs. John Whittenberg and Vonda Greene, Mrs. Brook Isbell and Pam, Mrs. Floyd Hosman and Kim, Mrs. Lyndell Brizendine and Teri Lynn, Mrs. Olin Whittenberg and Vickie, Mrs. Louis French and Michelle, Mrs. Larry Clark and Melanie and Terri Brook.

Also, the committee hopes to bring to the city a log cabin built in 1850 by Samuel Mather, pioneer of the Gabriel Mills

Benold contended that under the present financial set-up, where Georgetown and Taylor subsidize 90 percent of the losses on ambulance service, city taxpayers face "double taxation. They're paying for the runs to rural areas too."

Taylor Mayor Calvin Janak echoed Benold's sentiment that "ambulance service is a county responsibility."

After discussing the matter with the Granger, Hutto and Thrall mayors, Janak said that east Williamson County community officials concur that "it's not fair for the city to pick up the tab for ambulance runs to rural areas."

WILLIAMSON COUNTY COMMISSIONER Wesley Foust told Janak, "It's easy to pass the responsibility, isn't it?"

Janak replied, "I pay county taxes, and I'm entitled to the same services on a county basis as the people in rural areas receive."

Georgetown Mayor Joe Crawford agreed. "For everyone to pay on an equal basis, it needs to be financed on a county basis," Crawford said.

Addressing the commissioners, he added, "You're responsible for people in and out of the city limits, your job is to distribute service equally over the county. It's not fair for the people of Georgetown to subsidize ambulance service for rural families."

Foust noted that the county is already taxing "at the 90 cent limit. It's not constitutional to raise taxes—we'd have to raise property evaluations."

He added, "If Williamson County gets in this business, we're going to insist that the fee for an ambulance run is doubled from $25 to $50."

BILL LANE, owner of the Bexar County Ambulance Service, attended the meeting and said he agreed with Foust's suggestion to hike the ambulance fee.

"The $25 that the services in Georgetown and Taylor charge is a 1940 price," he said.

Lane verified the figures provided by the municipal ambulance operation in Taylor that one ambulance run would cost $75-80.

Under the present set-up, the City of Taylor collects $25 from the person served by the ambulance call. County government pays each ambulance service in the county $5 for each call, leaving municipal government to provide the remainder.

Lane said that under a county network ambulance, four ambulances and crews would be required for Williamson County.

POULTRY...
Chilled or frozen ready-to-cook poultry may be purchased in various sizes and forms to suit every occasion.
Most kinds of ready-to-cook poultry are available as parts and in whole, halved, and quartered form. Some kinds are also available as boneless roasts and rolls.
All poultry is perishable. Care and cleanliness should be used in the preparation, cooking, and serving of poultry products.
Keep frozen poultry hard-frozen until time to thaw, and cook promptly after thawing.
Use fresh chilled poultry within 1 to 2 days.
Completely cook poultry at one time. Never partially cook, then store, and finish cooking at a later date.
Left-over cooked poultry, broth, stuffing, and gravy should be separated, covered, and refrigerated. Use within 1 to 2 days. Freeze for longer storage.
Serve poultry often—it is a nutritious, delicious taste treat the year around!

100 county ranchers join Cattlemen's Association

Two South Texas ranchers rallied 100 Williamson County beef producers against depressed market prices Tuesday, as the Independent Cattlemen's Association mustered support at Jonah.

Later, the Hutto cattle producer Andrew Greinert, who inspired the 2-hour rally was elected chairman of the marketing association's Williamson County chapter.

Pat Williams and Alton Weiser, both Hallettsville ranchers and directors of the Independent Cattlemen's Association in Lavaca County, addressed the gathering at the Jonah School.

ICA's PURPOSE, Williams said, "is to promote and protect the red beef industry." He explained that the marketing association's immediate goal is to lobby in Washington, D. C., to prohibit foreign countries from interfacing with the supply and demand of beef in the United States.

Williams proposed that the federal government slap a ban on all beef imports.

The Independent Cattlemen's Association, already boasting 100,000 members, "needs to increase its numbers to have any influence in Washington," Williams added.

The ICA roster collected almost 100 signatures at the Jonah School meeting Tuesday, and 29 Williamson County ranchers were designated as blue-back workers, to continue the membership drive.

To join, Williams explained, a prospective member must be 18 years or older and concerned about the beef-on-the-hoof crisis.

"DUES ARE STRICTLY VOLUNTARY," he said. "What we're interested in more than money is membership."

ICA donations are tax-deductible, he added. Later, after the membership sign-up, the Williamson County ranchers elected temporary officers to serve until 70 percent of the county's cattle producers is organized.

Andrew Greinert, a Hutto rancher who attended an ICA rally in Cameron last Monday, was elected chairman.

Others chosen by acclamation were Hartwin Holmstrom, Georgetown, vice-chairman; Donna Beyer, Jonah, secretary; and Jack Adkins, Georgetown, treasurer.

The group also elected directors, to serve in the absence of the temporary officers. Directors included Leonard Wenzel, Georgetown; Warren Setcik, Jonah; and Harold Leach, Jonah.

Williams, who owns 500 head of cattle in Lavaca County, told the group, "Our complaining hasn't done anything. All ranchers must join together and let the American people know what's going on in the cattle industry."

He added, "The consumer is paying a terrible price for beef in the supermarket and we're getting next to nothing."

"WHY IS THE GROCER CHARGING $1.50 OR $2 A POUND, when the cattlemen can get just 18 cents a pound at the auction?"

Be the end of 1974, Williams said, he expects the membership of the ICA to pass the 200,000-mark.

The ICA is also organizing in New Mexico, Oklahoma, Arkansas and Louisiana. "Ten or 12 more states are talking about joining," he said. "If we get 20 southern agricultural states together, we'll be strong enough to get a lot done."

The marketing association's first move, Williams noted, is to roll back meat import levels to the 1964 quota.

"We have to quit making the U. S. the dumping ground for meat products from foreign countries," he added.

In 1972, he reported, 1,355 billion pounds of beef were brought into this country. The next year, 1,354 billion pounds were imported.

"But in just the first six months of 1974," he said, "2,669 billion pounds of red beef were shipped in."

"YOU CAN BELIEVE what you want to, but it's obvious that a lot of beef is coming in and flooding the market."

He said the ICA is supporting legislation to roll back the import quota to the 1964 level, when just 725.4 million pounds of beef and other red meat were allowed into the U. S. market.

Williams complained that former President Richard Nixon lifted the import quotas without the consent of Congress.

"If we had been organized when Mr. Nixon opened up the import barriers, we could have gotten our side of the story across," he said.

The Independent Cattlemen's Association was founded in Goliad by T. A. Cunningham. Cunningham was expected to appear at the Tuesday rally, but was unable to attend.

The ICA, Williams said, is gearing toward a December 3 meeting with the Texas congressional delegation and other national leaders at the nation's capital.

"UNTIL THIS TIME, there's been not one man in Washington who's for the ag man or the rancher," he said. He added that the ICA needs money to lobby for beef producers' interests.

Williams said the ICA supports three bills introduced by Congressman Texas Wright Patman to:

—PROVIDE for the purchase of surplus U. S. beef for shipment to famine-stricken nations.

—PLACE an immediate ban on all imports of foreign beef and beef products.

—EXPRESS the sense of Congress that President Ford immediately halt the foreign beef imports by his authority under the Meat Import Act of 1964.

Other goals, the ICA representative said, include legislation to label beef imports on supermarket counters and to serve school students U. S. beef.

"If we're strong enough, we can urge the U. S. Department of Agriculture to require labels on beef—whether it's corn-fed, grass-fed or some kind of foreign import."

Williams also said that school lunch programs today are supplied with imported hamburger meat, not U. S. beef.

"WHAT MAKES YOU WONDER about foreign beef is that it's not inspected very carefully and it's not stamped."

"There are 1077 foreign packing plants, and just 21 U. S. veterinarians to inspect them. Now we all know how strict the rules are on slaughtering in the U. S. For all we know, this foreign beef was slaughtered under a tree somewhere."

"FOREIGN PACKERS can do it cheaper—and then send it to the U. S. to compete with high quality beef."

The ICA does not believe that retail meat prices in the U. S. are too high. Williams pointed out that in 1950, 2.6 percent of the average American income bought 60 pounds of meat. In 1973, he said, 2.7 percent of the average income purchased 117 pounds of meat.

"What people in towns the size of Houston don't realize is that they're paying more for beef now than they were during the meat boycott—and we were getting 60 cents a pound then."

"We just don't think that if we get 45 or 50 cents a pound today, the beef prices at the supermarket have to go up."

Williams noted that a Wall Street Journal survey found that during the third quarter of 1974, the profits of U. S. grocery chains increased 115.4 percent.

"THE PACKERS and the middlemen are making more than their share," he said. "It's about time the rancher gets a decent price."

Williams stressed that the ICA wants to cooperate with other farm organizations.

"We hope they join us, because there's no other marketing association."

He also said that the group does not frown on the high price of U. S. grain.

"Grain is the only thing holding this country up," Williams said. "We're not knocking grain—we just want to bring beef up to a higher level."

THE NEXT MEETING of the Williamson County Independent Cattlemen's Association is slated for December 5 at 7:30 at the Jonah School.

Violations uncovered in Jarrell '74 audit

The 1973-74 audit of Jarrell School finances notes five procedural and record-keeping violations of Texas Education Agency guidelines.

Though Georgetown certified public accountant I. J. McCook Jr. labeled none of the violations "critical," Jarrell Superintendent Albert Lytle said the state agency "will shower us with fire and brimstone."

Unlike the audit at the Leander School—where District Attorney Bill Connor is investigating $3700 worth of "financial irregularities"—McCook accounted for every nickel of the $227,604 the Jarrell Independent School District spent during the fiscal year ending August 31.

The Jarrell audit, accepted by school trustees Wednesday night, states that the $2000 bond on the school tax assessor-collector fell almost $800 short of the minimum bond allowed for JISD by law.

McCook explained that the Texas Education Agency requires each school district to bond its tax collector for twice the amount of any daily tax collection.

"On one day during the school year, however, he was presented with a tax payment of $1389—more than half of the bond," McCook said.

The accountant termed the insufficient bond "an innocent procedural error," and recommended that the school board increase Vrabel's bond to $4000.

Superintendent Lytle issued the "fire and brimstone" prediction at Wednesday's board meeting.

"TEA (Texas Education Agency) will come down hard on us for not having sufficient bonding for our largest daily deposit," Lytle said.

He added that only one account on Jarrell's tax rolls last year exceeded the $1000 mark—the amount Vrabel could legally accept with a $2000 bond.

LYTLE URGED trustees to increase the tax collector's bond to $4000.

Besides the insufficient bond, the audit report contended that:

—Construction fund expenditures totaling $405 were overlooked when the school board amended the 1973-74 budget in August.

—Although proper accounts for revenue and expenditures were maintained, JISD kept no property records or general ledger accounts.

—The auditor could not find proper records for receipt or expenditures of Elementary-Secondary Education Act money in the compensatory fund.

—THE MAJOR AMOUNT of principal and interest on short term loans was paid from the interest and sinking fund, in violation of the rule that sinking fund expenditures are restricted to bond retirement and bond interest and expense," McCook stated.

Later, the auditor told the SUN that the violations "are not critical. They are nobody's evil design—just procedural errors."

He added that JISD "is not financially strong, but I don't know of a school district that is."

Though not included in the audit report, McCook commended the Jarrell School tax collector's data processing procedures and tax rolls.

"THE SAME FINANCIAL RECORDS and requirements for a school district the size of Houston are required for one the size of Jarrell," the auditor said. "And that doesn't give the small districts much leeway."

School trustees are required by law to send the audit by December 1 to TEA, the state education agency that has twice warned JISD of violations of accreditation standards.

First-year Superintendent Albert Lytle complained to the school board Wednesday that "I had no idea we had $405 left in our construction fund."

JISD borrowed $16,000 from the Citizens National Bank of Cameron for construction, Lytle said. "Nobody told me we hadn't spent it all."

Because the $405 was overlooked, auditor McCook said he had to answer a TEA questionnaire that JISD did not properly amend its budget.

Addressing himself to the school district's insufficient property records, Superintendent Lytle said, "We must have a record of every piece of property this school district owns."

"We need cost and replacement figures on our buildings, our desks—every bit of property," he told the school board.

"THIS IS A MOST SERIOUS VIOLATION," he added.

Lytle said he could find the replacement values for school-owned property, "but I don't know where to look for some of these records."

As for lack of book-keeping for the ESEA funds, auditor McCook explained, "Although there were apparently only two expenditures during the year, we could locate nothing for records except bank statements and copies of reports to TEA."

"It is necessary that the district establish the proper records for this source of funds and incorporate general ledger accounts, including property records, in order to comply with the accounting requirements of the Texas Education Agency," McCook continued.

JISD received $658 in federal ESEA funds last year, and spent $554 for library supplies, the auditor said.

"ALL I HAD TO JUSTIFY the account were two cancelled checks and a bank statement—which to me is sufficient, because they spent so little out of the fund," McCook said.

"But to the TEA, that's not adequate."

Superintendent Lytle said he has already implemented acceptable record-keeping procedures for the fund this year.

In a questionnaire the auditor completed for the Texas Education Agency, McCook answered the question, "Were the records of the local education agency maintained in a manner to allow an expeditious audit," with a "no."

"Those questions are harsh—they don't allow any room for an explanation," the auditor said.

McCook advised the school board to drop outdated personal property taxes from the JISD delinquent tax roll.

The tax roll now shows 11,803 in delinquent taxes, including $1930 in taxes owed on assessments before 1965.

The auditor explained that the amount of personal property taxes on the delinquent roll is minimal.

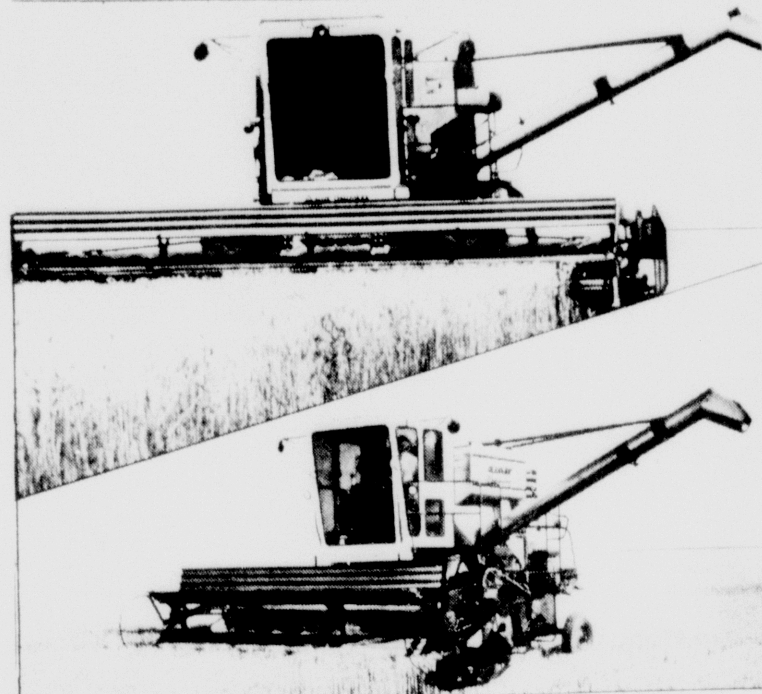

"By far, the majority of delinquent taxes is in real estate. There's not much use in keeping the personal property taxes on the roll after five years."

"IT'S DIFFICULT—if not impossible—to collect delinquent personal property taxes after a while. What the use in carrying $2.60 on a 1955 Ford automobile year after year?"

The audit showed that in 1973-74, JISD accepted $215,118 in revenues, and spent $227,604, for a net expenditure of $12,486.

Because the school district started the year with $31,365, JISD finished on August 31 at $18,879 in the black.

Superintendent Lytle said that if the district had collected just $567 more in taxes, "we would have broken even," because of additional state aid.

First Baptist to host Thanksgiving service

Father Charles Davis of St. Helen's Catholic Church will give the sermon at Georgetown's annual Ecumenical Thanksgiving service. The service will be held at 7:30 p. m. Wednesday at the First Baptist Church. Persons of all faiths are invited.

Other ministers participating in the service include Al Cummins, First Baptist; Tom Graves, First United Methodist; Bob Zacharias, Christ Lutheran; Warren Hall, First Presbyterian; and Bill Metting, St. Peter Lutheran.

Special music will be performed by the First Baptist Choir.

A special offering is taken at the service to provide a fund for destitute persons who are traveling through Georgetown. The fund purchases food, gasoline or other necessities for persons in need.

Members of the Georgetown Ministerial Association which sponsor the service are Assembly of God, Crestview Baptist, First Baptist, Gay Hill Baptist, St. Helen's Catholic, Church of Christ, Grace Episcopal, Evangelical Free Church, Christ Lutheran, St. Peter Lutheran, Zion Lutheran, First United Methodist, Gethsemane United Methodist, St. John's United Methodist and First Presbyterian.

Historical marker to be unveiled

The First Baptist Church of Liberty Hill will unveil its historical marker on November 24 at the close of the Sunday morning services.

The church is located on Loop 332 at Liberty Hill. Rev. Jesse Wilson is the pastor.

The unveiling ceremony will be a brief one, with Henry McLeod giving the dedicatory prayer.

The unveiling will mark the conclusion of a week of revival in the church.

AMBULANCE MEETING

Another chapter in the ambulance service saga will unfold Monday afternoon at the Williamson County Courthouse.

County commissioners and community officials will meet at 2 p. m. to again discuss furnishing ambulance service for all county residents.

The hearing is scheduled for the county commissioners courtroom on the first floor of the courthouse.

Tree sale set

The Georgetown Optimist Club will begin its annual Christmas tree sale around December 1, E. C. Bouffard, club president, announced.

Bouffard said the club will hold the sale near the Draeger Motor Company's new car lot.

Digging continues

The E. E. Stuessy Company plans to finish its trench - digging in the downtown shopping district by Christmas, crew foreman James Pierce said Friday.

Pierce said work is progressing, "although not as fast as possible."

THE STUESSY COMPANY is placing conduits 18 inches under the streets around the Georgetown Square to allow the city and telephone company to remove all overhead wiring.

Electrical and telephone wires to government offices and Georgetown businesses around the Williamson County Courthouse will be rerouted underground.

Pierce cited the water lines crossing the proposed trench routes as reasons for delay in the work.

"WE HAD TO DIG OUT the dirt around the water lines by hand—and that certainly slows us up," he said.

The crew sliced one of the lines Thursday, but city workmen repaired the damage within an hour.

Pierce said he hopes to complete the project by Christmas.

On Monday, he added, the crew will begin work on laying conduits under Main Street.

HE ASKED GEORGETOWN MOTORISTS to cooperate by avoiding driving or parking near construction cones.

The rewiring project will disrupt traffic flow on only one half block of the street at a time, Pierce said.

On Thursday, the work crew suffered a setback when the concrete to cover the conduits was delayed.

the passing glance

By Don Scarbrough

Williamson County is a big place with a growing density of people who sometimes, as in the event of fire or other misfortune, need services immediately if not sooner, as we said in days of yore.

So, when we have our ambulance and fire services nailed down, one way or another, why not try to get a couple of those small surplus military helicopters and utilize them for quick service to the people living miles away from headquarters.

TAKE A FIRE midpoint between Georgetown and Florence, as an example. A 'copter could get there ten minutes sooner than the fastest fire truck and in many cases five or even fewer minutes mean the difference between light and heavy losses. The same is true, certainly, of ambulance service on the highways.

I don't know what the government's policy on those helicopters are, of course, but certainly we have a bunch of them that were used in South Vietnam and other places that have been placed in mothballs. Why not try to get a couple contributed to the service of the people who paid for them, the good old taxpayers of Williamson County?

WHO WOULD FLY THEM? I'll bet my bottom penny that one of our firemen would be happy to take the necessary instructions.

I am going to be mighty disappointed if I am not delighted with the appearance of the square, once the overhead wires are underground. Those black heavy, sagging wires, suspended from bulky, ugly telephone poles have made it an impossibility to do a first class job at improving the looks of our downtown area. They will be gone in a few days and, from that point forward, we can stop excusing ourselves and really get to work at making our buildings look first rate.

Somehow, an incentive program based on city, school and county taxes might be utilized to encourage people to upgrade their commercial properties. Now, with the current system, the more they run down the lower the tax. One town I heard about is putting a penalty tax on properties that are allowed to deteriorate.

Half and half penalizes city dweller

—Crawford says of ambulance plan

Williamson County Commissioners unofficially offered to go half and half with Georgetown, Round Rock and Taylor to provide county-wide ambulance service at a special meeting Friday morning.

"The catch", according to Georgetown Mayor Joe Crawford, is that property owners in the three towns would be paying twice for a service which would also be provided to their rural neighbors. "The county taxes everyone. Property owners in both the city and rural areas pay county taxes," Crawford emphasized.

Commissioner Wesley Johnson replied to Crawford, "You will have three times as many people in the city using ambulance service as those in the rural areas."

Crawford countered, "I repeat gentlemen, all city property owners pay county taxes."

COMMISSIONER WESLEY FOUST suggested a plan which received a consensus by commissioners. The plan called for the county to purchase 5 ambulance units for the county to be operated by the fire departments of Taylor, Georgetown and Round Rock. The initial capital outlay is estimated to be $50,000. After that initial investment, the county would pay half the losses, projected to be $80,000 annually for the three cities. The other $40,000 loss would be divided on some approved basis by the three cities.

Commissioners agreed that operation by the fire departments would be preferable to a private enterprise.

"I would rather see operation stay in the fire departments so that we would not be assuring profits to a private enterprise," said Foust.

According to a Capital Area Planning Council study, commercial ambulance operators usually require a franchise or contract and a subsidy from local government to continue services.

A. F. Davis, owner of Davis Funeral Home in Georgetown announced in September that he would discontinue his ambulance service on Dec. 31.

The owner of the current ambulance service stated his reasons as being higher operation costs and tighter federal regulations.

At a meeting of city and county officials Thursday afternoon Bill Lane, owner of Bexar County Ambulance Service pointed out that training fire department personnel may take as long as 60 days.

No official budget amendments were passed, but county officials scrounged a total of $81,250 from federal revenue sharing funds for the ambulance service. Ambulance services was allotted 18,750 in June when the budget was approved.

Suggested cuts from the budget included $10,000 for jail improvements, $7500 for a sheltered workshop in Taylor for the Mental Health-Mental Retardation department, and $45,000 for a county-wide livestock and exhibition building.

Commissioners approved a $1.6 million budget for 1975 in October with total expenditures allotted at $1.45 million. However, County Auditor Ben Kurio said that the surplus funds were budgeted to allow for unpredictable increase in prices.

Commissioners have called a meeting for 2 p. m. Monday in the county courtroom. The meeting is open to the public with special invitations being sent to officials from each city in the county.

SOGGY BUSINESS—Water floods the trench as workmen continue the city's rewiring project. While digging an 18-inch trench on 8th Street, the crew pierced a water line. Undismayed, the work continued to reroute the overhead wiring around the Williamson County Courthouse Square.

Week's news in a nutshell

WILLIAMSON COUNTY COMMISSIONERS were urged to accept the financial responsibility for providing ambulance service to families in rural and incorporated county areas. Taylor and Georgetown mayors asked the commissioners Thursday to finance the emergency medical operations for communities across the county.

Later, the commissioners offered a plan whereby the county and municipal governments would share the financial burden for ambulance service.

THE CITY OF GEORGETOWN was accorded bicentennial status Thursday by the national office of the American Revolution Bicentennial Administration. The Georgetown Bicentennial Commission is planning 21 projects to celebrate the nation's independence.

WILLIAMSON COUNTY CATTLE PRODUCERS organized a chapter of the Independent Cattlemen's Association Tuesday night at Jonah. One hundred ranchers rallied against depressed market prices, and Andrew Greinert of Hutto was elected chairman of the county's marketing association.

THE E. E. STUESSY COMPANY began a project to remove overhead wiring from the Georgetown Square Tuesday. The $25,000 project will reroute electricity and telephone wires through conduits under the street. Construction crew foreman James Pierce hopes to complete the work by Christmas.

JARRELL SCHOOL audit of 1973-74 finances revealed Wednesday five procedural and record-keeping violations of Texas Education Agency requirements. Though none of the errors were termed critical, school administrators feared that TEA would not be sympathetic to the school district's situation.

GEORGETOWN INDEPENDENT SCHOOL DISTRICT trustees were told Monday that the completion of the new high school would again be delayed—this time by replacement of mismatched carpet.

But his reputation with church pastors and architects pulls him farther and farther from his South Texas shop to such communities as Clinton, South Carolina; San Diego, California—and even Walburg, Texas.

Vernon Black designs and installs stained glass windows.

Whenever there's a church, there's marketing potential—and that's why the glasscutting craftsman is visiting the Georgetown area.

This week, Black will finish a year-long, multi-thousand dollar project at the Zion Lutheran Church at Walburg—one of a dozen churches in Williamson County where he has left his mark.

"IT MAKES A FELLA proud to make a church a better place to worship," he said.

"A fella can't be in the stained glass business to get rich," he added. "The people who are in it, love it—they'd do anything for it."

"I never saw a good stained glass man in my life who was not dedicated to his work."

Dedication describes Vernon Black, who worked dawn 'til dusk replacing the amber windows at the Walburg church with stained glass designs last week.

Black explained that for hundreds of years, the stained glass business "was a matter of a piece of glass and a piece of lead."

He noted that the art was started in the 12th Century, with the first stained glass windows installed in churches in France.

"And the windows are there even today," he added. "Those windows are durable."

THE GLASS TRADE was passed from father to son during the Renaissance. Wherever an outpost of Christianity popped up, the glassman was in demand, Black said.

Until 20 years ago, he explained, "Every glass window was made from a pattern of colored pieces of glass joined together by lead."

Today, however, almost all of Black's commercial work is "faceted."

"I begin by placing the glass pieces in a pattern on a flat table," he said. "Then I put a board greased with Vaseline around the perimeter of the pattern."

Black leaves a half-inch gap between the glass pieces. Then he covers the pattern with an epoxy resin.

The cement—instead of lead—holds the glass together.

"In four or five days, the epoxy reaches its maximum strength," Black said. "There hasn't been a hail storm yet that could break a faceted glass window I made."

The price of faceted windows is "quite a bit less than what a leaded window would cost you," he added.

AT ZION LUTHERAN CHURCH, Black is installing 38 glass symbols in the window frames—with each pane costing just $200.

The first pane designed for the Walburg church was put together at the request of 92-year-old Mrs. Anna Jacob.

"The pastor wrote me a letter telling me that Mrs. Jacob was buying the window featuring a lamb for the church, but that she was afraid she might not live to see it finished."

Black chose Mrs. Jacob's window as the first of 38 panes he was contracted to design, and last Tuesday, the craftsman screwed the stained glass pane in place at the Zion Lutheran Church.

"MRS. JACOB and her son-in-law came by to see it yesterday, and she was so happy, she just wouldn't stop shaking my hand."

Black is also working on a project at the First Methodist Church in Georgetown.

"This is a particularly difficult job," he explained. "The original stained glass for the church was made in Europe, and so far, we haven't been successful in matching it."

Only three factories in the U.S. make the colored glass needed for stained windows, Black said.

"All the formulas are kept secret."

Black entered the stained glass business after World War II.

"There was a man in San Antonio named O. R. Wilson, who had a glass studio there since 1920.

"In 1946, brother and I were looking for a job and we went into the business with Wilson. We haven't caught up with our work since then."

Black, his wife and six other employees work at the Black Art Glass studio.

"We're still about a year behind on the jobs we've agreed to do."

THE CRAFTSMAN is contracted for projects all over the country. In Montgomery, Alabama, he points out, one architect firm refuses to contract any other glasscutter for church windows except Vernon Black.

"Georgetown is full of interesting church windows," Black said.

Although there have been very few innovations in leaded stained glass, he explained, faceted glass is considered a revolutionary approach to the business.

I had a University of Texas professor come into my shop and tell me that all the windows I've put together with epoxy will fall apart in 50 or 60 years.

"I asked him how he came to that conclusion, and he said he's been studying epoxy for a long time, and that it just wouldn't last."

"Well, I won't be around in 50 or 60 years, but if I was, I'd bet he's wrong. Faceted glass holds together as strong as leaded glass—when that epoxy dries, it dries for good."

HOW MUCH IS TOO MUCH WELFARE?

We who are able have an obligation to the old, the ailing and the needy.

The poor, the Bible says, we will always have with us. Some will always need to be cared for by others.

BUT WHEN DO YOU SAY WHEN? How much is too much welfare? What is the future of the welfare state in the United States?

Well, let's see what happened to a nation which had a head start on us: Denmark.

Denmark has had a welfare state since the great worldwide depression of the Thirties. First, the government offered to take care of the needs of the needy. Gradually, politicians elected on that promise felt forced to expand their promises to include the wants of the wanty.

NO NATION CAN AFFORD to pay for those very long.

Today, the average Dane makes about $175 a week, but he immediately gives more than half of that to his government in taxes.

The tax on income is such that there is no incentive to work hard to earn more to move up.

Government subsidy for the poor—a tax-free subsidy—makes it more profitable to loaf than to work. Sound familiar?

Wage earners, fed up with supporting the nonworkers, have formed their own political party. In the last election, last December, that "antispend party" won 28 seats in Parliament.

I BELIEVE DENMARK will be forced to hold another election this year. The leader of those opposed to government handouts, Mogens Gistrup, demands lower taxes, however necessary.

Denmark at a glance.

The nation which used to export only ham and cheese in the past dozen years has become an industrial exporter. But while exports have been rising, imports, especially oil, have been rising faster. Denmark's balance of payments is $2 billion in the red this year.

Foreign debts now total $6 billion, which is one-sixth of that nation's gross national product.

Denmark shares the inflation common to all industrial nations where workers have wanted more for producing less. New housing costs so much that home building is off 50% this year. Retail prices increased 18% last year.

Unemployment, supposedly nonexistent in a true welfare state, is now so high that Danish construction workers are going to Norway to get in on the North Sea oil boom.

THOSE TAXPAYERS who are politically organized have begun what they promise is a takeover. They are saying no, not just to more welfare spending. Gistrup wants to limit military spending as well.

When asked what his nation would do if invaded by Russia, he said, "Put up a sign on the beach saying, 'We surrender.'"

With such dogmatism he is winning an increasing following, forcing the incumbent government to compromise on economic issues.

Heretofore in revolutions, the workers rebelled against the profits of the rich.

In Denmark's now revolution, the workers are rebelling against the professional poor.

Both American, but - - -

Both are American, true blue, but there are differences between republicans and democrats!

Lou Erickson of the Atlanta Journal tells us how they differ.

Republicans follow plans their grandfathers made. Democrats make their own plans—and then do something else.

Democrats raise Airedales, taxes, and children.

Republicans raise dahlias, dalmatians and eyebrows.

REPUBLICAN BOYS date Democrat girls. They plan to marry Republican girls, but they figure they're entitled to a little fun first.

Republicans think Santa Claus is a Democrat. So do Democrats.

Republicans fish from the sterns of chartered boats. Democrats sit on the dock and let the fish come to them.

Democrats eat the fish they catch. Republicans hang them on the wall.

DEMOCRATS SUFFER from chapped hands and headaches. Republicans suffer from tennis elbow and gout.

Democrats name their children after currently popular movie and TV stars and sports heroes. Republicans name their children after parents or grandparents, wherever the most money is.

When a Republican makes a highball, he uses a jigger and carefully measures out the whisky. A Democrat just pours. Republicans tack up signs everywhere saying, "No Trespassing" and "Private Property" and things like that. Democrats, with their picnic baskets full of beer, start fires with the signs.

Republicans tend to pull down their shades though there is seldom a reason why they should. Democrats ought to but don't.

REPUBLICANS SLEEP in twin beds. Maybe that's why there are more Democrats than Republicans.

Erickson says Democrats nominate politicians at conventions where entertainers entertain.

Republicans nominate entertainers at conventions where politicians entertain.

Republicans like Democrats. So do Democrats.

Republicans have a difficult time giving up smoking. So do Democrats.

Democrats consume three-fourths of all the turnip greens grown in our country. The rest is thrown away.

Erickson was asked which he is—Republican or Democrat.

He replied, "It takes one to know one."

County schools college night at Round Rock

Round Rock High School will host the bi-annual Williamson County College Night, December 10 from 7-9 P.M.

Admissions counselors from forty-six different Texas colleges will be present to furnish information on college admission requirements, housing credit by examination, financial aid, academic programs, and student life.

Upperclassmen from all schools in Williamson County will be able to attend three sessions of their choice.

Parents are invited and urged to attend.

Maternity clause OK'd by trustees

Though it's as American as apple pie, too much motherhood is knocking holes in the Jarrell School faculty.

After a fourth teacher announced that her baby is due this school term, the superintendent discussed the population explosion with trustees in closed session Wednesday.

"They ribbed me a bit," first-year Superintendent Albert Lytle remarked.

"Before I came here, the school board didn't face this problem."

Trustees didn't bring back the chastity belt, but they did vote to include a pregnancy clause in the school's policy manual.

The maternity leave policy unanimously approved by the all-male school board allows a teacher 10 days to recuperate, "after which the teacher will forfeit all pay for the duration of the absence."

The substitute instructor will be awarded the pay due the teacher, the board decided.

Of Jarrell's 17 female faculty members, four have had or will have babies this year, Lytle said.

QUICK RESPONSE AND LITTLE DAMAGE—The Georgetown fire department responded to a call Thursday at 11:45 A.M. about five miles west of Georgetown on Highway 29. Due to quick action, the small grass fire on the property of Maude Patrick did little damage. No injuries were reported.

Washington Merry-Go-Round

Sweet Tooth is Hurting

WASHINGTON — Candy may still be dandy, but its cost may soon make it a luxury only the rich can afford.

Sugar, the prime confectionary ingredient, is now rivaling oil as the fastest rising commodity on the world price index. A five-pound bag of sugar cost 88 cents last year. Today, it runs nearly $2.50.

The reasons are complex, but a large share of the price rise can be laid to unscrupulous brokers and greedy sugar refiners.

The brokers set themselves up as middlemen, contracting desperate customers and offering them sugar. Once they get an offer, they get the sugar from a supplier they have worked a deal with. The increased costs go into the broker's pocket.

Many legitimate sugar refiners are also taking advantage of the short sugar supply to raise prices well above their costs. Sugar industry profits have ballooned by as much as 500 per cent.

Of course, market pressures have played the most significant role in the price boost. Worldwide sugar consumption has simply outpaced sugar production. The oil-rich Arab nations have helped inflate demand, bidding up prices on the international market to satisfy a newly developed sweet tooth. And poor crops forecasts around the world mean further increases in the future.

In America, sugar's outrageous price has consumers either boycotting or hoarding the product. Only dentists and nutritionists, it seems, are heralding the sugar pinch. The food experts have found that sugar is the only food without nutritional value. And the dentists, of course, hope that less sugar will mean fewer cavities.

GETTING TO KNOW YOU: President Ford travels to the Soviet Union this week with a head full of advice from Secretary of State Henry Kissinger.

Kissinger gave Ford a favorable report on his secret 19-hour talks with Soviet leader Leonid Brezhnev. The Soviet leader was cordial but cautious, Kissinger reported. He clearly wants to continue the Russian American détente.

But Brezhnev made it clear that he wanted to get to know the new American President before substantive talks get underway. The first Ford-Brezhnev handshake, however, the two leaders undoubtedly broke into some treacherous area.

Ford, for example, is concerned about the Soviet buildup of mobile missiles. These missiles can be moved by train, truck or plane. They can even be fired on the move. It would be almost impossible, then, to set up an advance defense system.

The first dramatic test of the new Russian missile was conducted when Kissinger was in Moscow about a month ago. Now, Ford is prepared to warn the Soviets that they are risking a new round in the arms race unless the two superpowers agree on restraints. For once both countries start producing mobile missiles, even the most sophisticated surveillance couldn't keep track of how many mobile missiles the other side had, or where they were developed.

The Vladivostok summit, however, is unlikely to produce any major Soviet-American agreements. Rather, it will serve to reinforce the foundations of détente.

SHEIKHS AND STARVATION: The oil price squeeze has brought fabulous wealth to a few Arab sheikhs. It has also brought starvation to millions of impoverished people.

High oil prices increase the cost of fertilizers and insecticides, which have a petroleum base. This has reduced food production.

Yet an estimated 400 million—twice the population of the United States—don't have enough to eat.

The United States is the world's greatest food producer. Unlike the oil producers, the United States has been generous with its surplus food. For 30 years, the United States almost alone has kept the impoverished from starving.

Half of the world's bulk food exports still come from the United States. Of this, a whopping billion dollars' worth of food is given away or is sold to poor countries at low cost.

In contrast, the reckless greed of the oil sheikhs is costing lives. They have been showing up at the world's pleasure spots scattering money like autumn leaves. Meanwhile, in places like Bangladesh and India, people are being turned away from the bread lines because they have no money for food. And in Africa, millions are starving because there isn't enough food to go around.

COMPACT CRUNCH: The four major auto manufacturers have spent $1 billion retooling factories to produce smaller cars. Yet transportation officials are having second thoughts about small cars.

It is true that small cars

consume less fuel and, therefore, are more economical to operate. But private studies show that small cars get involved in more accidents and are more costly to repair. The average damage claim after a collision, according to the studies, is $506 for a compact car compared to only $433 for a full-size car.

A front fender, which cost $61 to repair in 1967, now costs $114. A rear fender, which cost $150 to repair in 1967, now costs $167. And a trunk lid, which cost $93 to repair in 1967, now costs $132.

Costs like these have started a move in Congress to regulate the auto repair business.

SLOGANS U.S.A.: In times past, Americans have been able to distill the cause of the hour into a phrase, a rallying cry, a stirring slogan to reaffirm our faith in America. A slogan is needed to capture the spirit of America past, present and future. It ought not to be the forced effort of an advertising executive, but rather it should be the spontaneous outpouring from an average citizen.

Therefore, the Copernicus Society of America, in conjunction with the Bicentennial Commission, is sponsoring "Slogans, U.S.A." So far, the response has been heavy and heartwarming. Slogans have poured in from around the nation. But more ideas are needed, so send your slogan suggestion to: "Slogans, U.S.A.", Box 1976, Washington, D.C.

It's time to reaffirm the dream.

Letters to the Editor

Sir,

In response to Ed. in Sun, Sun Nov. 17.

Strong feelings rose in me when I read your ed. comment about the "recession" in progress in this country. I agree with one point: the press and television—in fact—all the media—seems to take satisfaction in making quick judgments and dramatic statements—and I fear their power. The danger lies not in denying the developments in our economy, but in letting the media's impressive power of persuasion obscure the grass-root problems we face. To accept the commentators' views without self-examination is to turn away from our most valuable resource—our own good sense.

Do you really think that what we need is a great leader? That's what the Germans thought when they accepted Hitler. Didn't we come close enough to that once already? A dictatorship—is what we would end up with if we insist the problem is administrative, and even a benevolent dictatorship would be a horror to me.

To quote the editorial, "there is nothing we lack except the proper goals and the correct procedure." I agree with the statement, but not in the context in which it was stated.

You are right. We are rich and lucky. Rich in resources and lucky to have a history of high spirit and inventiveness. Turn off your T.V. and look around. High power bills? We can use less—individually—or provide our own—individually or in small community group.

Solar power, wind generators, better designs for less waste. We have the best resource of all on our shoulders—and our worst enemy is the trend toward asking others for easy solutions. Please don't look to the "state" for the answers—you will be selling your and my soul.

About the economic situation: anybody who lived in pre-depression times or who has studied it knows the slump resulted from speculation in the stock market. Now that is against the law. But speculation is rampant in the land market, the food market, the textile industry as a result of our staggering consumption rate. It seems to me the recession is not only possible, but impossible to avoid—maybe already here.

Does it scare me? Doing without doesn't scare me, but the reactions of people scare me. Many adults raised in post WW II days feel that affluence is their due—and get nasty when told they must tighten their belts. Look at the young people who would rather steal a ten-speed bike than do without.

Really, I'm excited and optimistic about the possibilities the next 20 years hold for me, and for my son, now 5 months old. We could be so much closer to each other—proximity can breed love instead of hate—working hard together to be self-sufficient. I am looking forward to cooperation between people—better ways of living that we can work out together, and looking within ourselves to rediscover the spiritual worth of our lives instead of looking to the television to dull our pains.

To end, I quote the editorial again: "Georgetown, and it's environs—which include most of central Texas—is blessed in so many ways that we can see no reason why our 'good times' can't continue even though the dismal 'jawboning' goes on via TV & Daily newspapers.—Amen

AUSTIN—While the political and financial writers are trying to figure out why the banker-governor, Dolph Briscoe, would keep $15,000 cash in his closet for a couple of years without putting it up for interest because he was trying to give it back to another banker, it's time to report that a mystery much longer-standing may have been solved.

When Cabeza de Vaca landed in Texas in 1528 for a stay of substantial length, he found the Carancahua Indians along the coast using what he called "asphaltum" to stick heads on their arrows and to plaster their woven pots so they would hold water. The "asphaltum" was picked up on the beaches, he reported. Several hundred years later, a wave of black tarry globs were found on the beaches of South Texas, leading to speculation of offshore pollution by oilwell drilling.

But now an Aggie submarine may have solved the mystery. It is the "Diaphus", named for a species of lantern fish with a luminous nose, which can and has been inspecting the bottom of the Gulf of Mexico as deep as 1,200 feet.

Dr. Richard A. Geyer, head of the Texas A&M University oceanography program, reports that the "Diaphus" is on its second cruise right now, after an earlier cruise brought back scientific proof of seeps of natural gas from the Gulf bottom.

Dr. William Sweet found and documented the gas seeps in two areas and believes they may have found strong indications that the presence of oil and gas does not have the effect on marine life that had been feared.

"Now we find gas seeps in the midst of thriving plant and animal life," Dr. Sweet reports. "The ecosystem isn't disturbed, so evidently the gas leaks aren't bothering the organisms or the reefs."

In the University and the Sea, Dr. Sweet is quoted as saying that he believes that much of the oil and tar found on Texas beaches originated from these seeps and that the natural oil leaks are a major source of tar balls floating in the ocean.

"Scientists believe that no more than one per cent of the oil that has ever been generated becomes trapped in reservoirs," Dr. Sweet commented. "Of the rest, some is squeezed out of the source beds and probably migrates through the sediment to the surface."

So, it may be that the A&M submarine has solved that mystery of where the "alphaltum" came from on the beaches where Cabeza de Vaca met the Indians.

That's a mystery, because the home folks are fussing and fuming about the energy shortage, and if A&M has developed a submarine which can find gas seeping out of the ocean floor as part of a project for the Federal government, maybe somebody ought to put the "Diaphus" to work finding some gas and oil in the Texas offshore lands, where production is still fairly slight.

Of course, if the "Diaphus" could bring us back a good explanation of how Moses managed to make the Red Sea roll back, it might be permissible to make the trip to Egypt.

Take It Easy — But Take It!

Dear Dolph:

Don't guess its exactly news to you, Dolph, but you're having image trouble. That Mr. Clean (!) image is about to become Mr. Clean (?). You're probably getting all the legal advice you need. And it must be pretty good legal advice, seeing as how it kept you free from getting your deposition took til after election day.

So I'm not trying to give you legal advice. I want to give you some image advice. I figure you're really needing it right about now. I've been following the newspapers and TV news accounts on how Sissie Farenthold's lawyers have stayed on your trail night and day for the last nine months, until they finally treed you down there in a motel room in Uvalde. Must be aggravating to have to go under oath and answer a lot of questions about alleged shady transactions in your campaign financing.

I'd hate to see your "Mr. Clean (!)" and "I - kept - my - promise" image fade, Dolph. It's about all you got working for you. So I'd suggest you study what happened to Spiro Agnew and Dick Nixon and their glowing "Law and Order" image. You probably know that those images are gall to the general public today. Why? Because instead of stepping out and making a clean breast of their knowledge of wrong - doing, they both tried to palm off all those pieties about not knowing what had been going on! Don't you go off down that road, Dolph.

You're best bet, image-wise, right now is to clear up these shoddy allegations — pronto. After Sharpstown and Watergate, the people are suspicious of self-righteous pieties. They want candid, straight talk. You are the chief executive officer of the state. They want to know, and have a right to know, whether you have been a party to shady deals and violation of the state's laws.

Even more compelling than your "I kept my promise," is the fact that you took a solemn oath to see that the laws of Texas are enforced. Now you stand accused of having violated that oath. That's mighty hard on your "Mr. Clean" image, Dolph.

So whatever legal dodging and ducking your lawyers advise, you keep your image in mind. Take the initiative. Forget Sissie Farenthold's making you do it through the courts. Just stand up on your own, look the people in the eye, and give them the straight facts on that campaign financing.

If you're going to be Mr. Clean (!) you're going to have to come clean, Dolph.

Yours,
JHF

RANDY STUMP gets a two pointer from the corner over the outstretched arms of tall Dragon James Yancey. But they came all too seldom for the Eagles, who had a 23% average from the field and they lost 43-69.

MARK ZIMMERHANEL attempts to work the ball in a little closer, but has to contend with heavy traffic. The Eagles had to take most of their shots from way out in order to get over the tall Dragons.

their game to Salado 18-46, and lost to Leander 28-41.

Round Ball Round Up

High School basketball really got underway in the area this past week. The Junior High schools have been playing a couple of weeks. Reports of available results are as follows:

GEORGETOWN:

The High School boys played in Round Rock Tuesday night, dropping all three games to the Dragons.

The Eagle Varsity lost to the Dragons 43-69. The big difference was the size. The Dragons are big and tall. The Eagles demonstrated a lot of quickness and hustle, but there was just no way to overcome the enormous size differential.

Leading the scoring for Georgetown were Alfred Girard with 22 points, Bill Jones 6, and Randy Stump 5. For Round Rock Yancey scored 27, Carlson 15, and Lively 12. Stump led in rebounds for the Eagles with 10.

The Eagle Junior Varsity dropped a close game to the Dragons 33-36, after leading most of the way. The teams were tied 5-5 after the first quarter, led 17-13 at the half, and 26-22 after the third quarter.

Scoring for the Eagle JV's were David Giese 7, Fritz

Daehne 6, Troy Sanderfer 6, Kevin MacEwan 4, Larry Maynard 4, Marvin Schwausch 3, Bobby Newberg 2, and Scott Fairburn 1.

The Georgetown Freshman lost 51-60 to Round Rock. High point man in the game was Joe Jenkins with 17 for the Eagles. Also scoring for the Eagle Frosh were Dexter Satterfield with 12, David Jackson 8, John Babicki 6, Brad Miller 4, David Hays 2, and Shane Gower 2. Babicki led the Eagles in rebounds with 10, and Satterfield contributed the most assists with 5.

For the Dragons Trull scored 14 points, Richards 11, Jordan 10, and Mann 9. The Eagles played on even terms with the Dragons the last three quarters, but could never overcome the 9 point deficit created in the first quarter.

The Georgetown High School girls played Pflugerville and lost both the Varsity and JV games. The Varsity went down 40-80, and the JV's dropped their's 28-84.

The Georgetown Junior High girls have played four games. The 7th Grade fems have won 3 and lost 1. They defeated Liberty Hill 27-17, Burnet 33-21, Liberty Hill 31-22, and lost to San Marcos 18-20.

The 8th Grade girls have won 1 and lost 3. They lost to Liberty Hill 18-38, Burnet 26-35, Liberty Hill 21-27, but defeated San Marcos 28-15.

FLORENCE-JARRELL: The Jarrell girls defeated Florence 41-29. The Florence boys "A" team beat Jarrell 62-24, and the Florence boys "B" team defeated Jarrell 34-7.

LIBERTY HILL: The Liberty Hill Junior High boys defeated Lometa 53-36. High point man for the Panthers was Roy Montemayor with 17. David Hernandez had 10.

The Panthers beat Salado 31-25. Mark Walker was high scorer with 12 points and Lee Jackson had 7.

LAND OF PLENTY

★ THANKSGIVING FOR . . .

- PROSPEROUS NATION
- FOOD
- A STRONG NATION
- FREEDOM OF WORSHIP

Pages could be filled with ways that God has blessed us, and we should be continually thankful for God's goodness. At this time, however, we should pause from our daily workday habits and in unison, give special thanks to God, that we still have freedom of worship.

Attend church this Thanksgiving weekend

THE CHURCH IS GOD'S appointed agency in this world for spreading the knowledge of His love for man and of His demand for man to respond to that love by loving his neighbor. Without this grounding in the love of God, no government or society or way of life will long persevere and the freedoms which we hold so dear will inevitably perish. Therefore, even from a selfish point of view, one should support the Church for the sake of the welfare of himself and his family. Beyond that, however, every person should uphold and participate in the Church because it tells the truth about man's life, death and destiny; the truth which alone will set him free to live as a child of God.

TP&L names new executives

Two executive changes at Texas Power & Light Company have been announced by J. F. Skelton, TP&L president.

Joe Nelson of Terrell has been named TP&L's Southern Division manager, succeeding Leon Loveless who will become manager of power at the Company's Dallas headquarters.

Nelson, who will office in Waco, served as Terrell TP&L district manager since 1968. He joined the Company in Dallas in 1963 and later served in various sales capacities in the firm's Paris district.

Nelson, a native of Bowie, attended Denver City, Texas, public schools and was graduated from Texas Tech University with a bachelor of business administration degree.

Nelson is married to the former Maxine Conerly of Clarksville, and the couple has two children, Jay, 4, and Tom, nine months.

Loveless served as TP&L's Southern Division manager since 1970. He was also TP&L manager in Garland and district manager in Sherman.

PTA delegates home from meet

Public school finance reform, school bus safety, alcohol and drug abuse were three of the many timely topics discussed during the 65th Annual Texas PTA Convention in Corpus Christi, which was attended by Mr. and Mrs. Wm. C. Holmans and Edward G. Mugford of Georgetown.

Several thousand delegates representing every region of Texas converged on this Gulf Coast city for the three-day idea session, Nov. 13-15.

Fifteen workshops covering 11 topics were participated in by delegates. Each workshop was presented by selected professionals, knowledgeable on each particular subject.

Responding from the legislative workshops, Mugford said, "If you want to do something about child abuse, write your legislators, both state and federal."

Guest speakers for the confab were Lt. Gov. George Nigh of Oklahoma, L. P. Sturgeon, Special Consultant to the Texas State Teachers Association, John McDonald, Director of Programming for the Texas Alcoholism Commission, Dr. A. F. Swearingen, Senior Minister of the Parkway Presbyterian Church of Corpus Christi and Mrs. Tony Patch of California, National PTA vice-president of Region VIII.

Retired clerk Charles Beaver dies Wednesday

Charles O. Beaver, 79, son of A. C. and Cynthia Brooks Beaver retired County Clerk and Probate Clerk of Williamson County died Nov. 20 at the Georgetown Medical and Surgical Hospital.

He was a native of Georgetown.

Funeral services were held Nov. 22 at 2 p. m. at the Davis Chapel with burial in the I.O.O.F. Cemetery.

Rev. Warren Hall officiated.

He is survived by his wife, Mrs. Elizabeth Beaver, two nieces—Mrs. Peggy Gaddy of Georgetown and Mrs. Oras Ann Salibo of Clear Lake City, two nephews—Commander Seth E. Barron of Groton Longpoint, Connecticut and Glenn Barron of Houston.

Pallbearers were: William S. Lott, Ben W. Kurio, August H. Bosshard, John Lyons, Kenneth

Jordan, Edward Lee Evans, Neal Boydston and Dick

Cervena.

Resolution passed honoring Holmstrom

Honoring the memory of Thomas W. Holmstrom and paying tribute to his 32 years as a member of the Williamson County Board of School Trustees, the Board of Williamson County School Trustees passed a resolution of appreciation.

Holmstrom died on October

19 while he was serving as chairman of the board of school trustees of Williamson County, a position he had filled since April of 1963.

The resolution was signed by J. T. Atkinson, R. F. Holubec, Emery Blackman, Kerney Wolf, and County School Superintendent Ben Rosenblad, Jr.

Peggy Stork at Chamber office

Peggy Stork, a Georgetown High School senior, is the newest employee at the Georgetown Chamber of Commerce office.

She is working part-time under the Vocational Office Education program.

Chamber manager Gene Martinka said the VOE students will work with the Chamber through December.

Court ruling upheld

The Texas Supreme Court has upheld a civil case ruling by 26th District Court Judge Kirby Vance.

In so doing, the high court reversed a decision in the same case by the Texas Court of Civil Appeals.

The case was heard in the district courtroom in Georgetown, and the litigation involved the notes resulting from the sale of land.

The notes were made payable to the wife of Williams B. Evans who, the suit claimed, owed money to Dale E. Muller.

Evans said the notes were solely the property of his wife and not subject to garnishee action on his debt.

Judge Vance ruled the notes community property and subject to claims by Muller.

The Court of Civil Appeals disagreed with the ruling, saying that payment on the notes was subject to use by the wife only.

The matter reached the Texas Supreme Court, which reversed the decision of the Civil Appeals court and affirmed Vance's ruling.

The American Legion Auxiliary No. 317 of Jarrell hosted the members and the American Legion members to a turkey and dressing supper Sunday, Nov. 17.

POULTRY...

Chilled or frozen ready-to-cook poultry may be purchased in various sizes and forms to suit every occasion.

Most kinds of ready-to-cook poultry are available as parts and in whole, halved, and quartered form. Some kinds are also available as boneless roasts and rolls.

All poultry is perishable. Care and cleanliness should be used in the preparation, cooking, and serving of poultry products.

Keep frozen poultry hard-frozen until time to thaw, and cook promptly after thawing.

Use fresh chilled poultry within 1 to 2 days.

Completely cook poultry at one time. Never partially cook, then store, and finish cooking at a later date.

Left-over cooked poultry, broth, stuffing, and gravy should be separated, covered, and refrigerated. Use within 1 to 2 days. Freeze for longer storage.

Serve poultry often—it is a nutritious, delicious taste treat the year around!

100 county ranchers join Cattlemen's Association

Two South Texas ranchers rallied 100 Williamson County beef producers against depressed market prices Tuesday, as the Independent Cattlemen's Association mustered support at Jonah.

Later, the Hutto cattle producer Andrew Greinert, who inspired the 2-hour rally was elected chairman of the marketing association's Williamson County chapter.

Pat Williams and Alton Weiser, both Hallettsville ranchers and directors of the Independent Cattlemen's Association in Lavaca County, addressed the gathering at the Jonah School.

ICA'S PURPOSE. Williams said, "is to promote and protect the red beef industry."

He explained that the marketing association's immediate goal is to lobby in Washington, D.C., to prohibit foreign countries from interfacing with the supply and demand of beef in the United States.

Williams proposed that the federal government slap a ban on all beef imports.

The Independent Cattlemen's Association, already boasting 100,000 members, "needs to increase its numbers to have any influence in Washington," Williams added.

The ICA roster collected almost 100 signatures at the Jonah School meeting Tuesday, and 29 Williamson County ranchers were designated as blue-back workers, to continue the membership drive.

To join, Williams explained, a prospective member must be 18 years or older and concerned about the beef-on-the-hoof crisis.

"DUES ARE STRICTLY VOLUNTARY," he said. "What we're interested in more than money is membership."

ICA donations are tax-deductible, he added. Later, after the membership sign-up, the Williamson County ranchers elected temporary officers to serve until 70 percent of the county's cattle producers is organized.

Andrew Greinert, a Hutto rancher who attended an ICA rally in Cameron last Monday, was elected chairman.

Others chosen by acclamation were Hartwin Holmstrom, Georgetown, vice-chairman; Donna Beyer, Jonah, secretary; and Jack Adkins, Georgetown, treasurer.

The group also elected directors, to serve in the absence of the temporary officers. Directors included Leonard Wenzel, Georgetown; Warren Seteik, Jonah; and Harold Leach, Jonah.

Williams, who owns 500 head of cattle in Lavaca County, told the group, "Our complaining hasn't done anything. All ranchers must join together and let the American people know what's going on in the cattle industry."

He added, "The consumer is paying a terrible price for beef in the supermarket and we're getting next to nothing."

WHY IS THE GROCER CHARGING $1.50 OR $2 A POUND when the cattlemen can get just 18 cents a pound at the auction?"

Be the end of 1974, Williams said, he expects the membership of the ICA to pass the 200,000 mark.

The ICA is also organizing in New Mexico, Oklahoma, Arkansas and Louisiana. "Ten or 12 more states are talking about joining," he said.

"If we get 20 southern agricultural states together, we'll be strong enough to get a lot done."

The marketing association's first move, Williams noted, is to roll back meat import levels to the 1963 quota.

"We have to quit making the U.S. the dumping ground for meat products from foreign countries," he added.

In 1972, he reported, 1,355 billion pounds of beef were brought into this country. The next year, 1,354 billion pounds were imported.

"But in just the first six months of 1974," he said, "2,669 billion pounds of red beef were shipped in."

"YOU CAN BELIEVE what you want to, but it's obvious that a lot of beef is coming in and flooding the market."

He said the ICA is supporting legislation to roll back the import quota to the 1964 level, when just 725.4 million pounds of beef and other red meat were allowed into the U.S. market.

Williams complained that former President Richard Nixon lifted the import quotas without the consent of Congress.

"If we had been organized when Mr. Nixon opened up the import barriers, we could have gotten our side of the story across," he said.

The Independent Cattlemen's Association was founded in Goliad by T. A. Cunningham. Cunningham was expected to appear at the Tuesday rally, but was unable to attend.

The ICA, Williams said, is gearing toward a December 3 meeting with the Texas congressional delegation and other national leaders at the nation's capital.

"UNTIL THIS TIME, there's been not one man in Washington who's for the ag man or the rancher," he said. He added that the ICA needs money to lobby for beef producers' interests.

Williams said the ICA supports three bills introduced by Congressman Texas Wright Patman to:

—PROVIDE for the purchase of surplus U.S. beef for shipment to famine-stricken nations.

—PLACE an immediate ban on all imports of foreign beef and beef products.

—EXPRESS the sense of Congress that President Ford immediately halt the foreign beef imports by his authority under the Meat Import Act of 1964.

Other goals, the ICA representative said, include legislation to label beef imports on supermarket counters and to serve school students U.S. beef.

"If we're strong enough, we can urge the U.S. Department of Agriculture to require labels on beef—whether it's corn-fed, grass-fed or some kind of foreign import."

Williams also said that school lunch programs today are supplied with imported hamburger meat, not U.S. beef.

"WHAT MAKES YOU WONDER about foreign beef is that it's not inspected very carefully and it's not stamped."

"There are 1077 foreign packing plants, and just 21 U.S. veterinarians to inspect them. Now we all know how strict the rules are on slaughtering in the U.S. For all we know, this foreign beef was slaughtered under a tree somewhere."

"FOREIGN PACKERS can do it cheaper—and then send it to the U.S. to compete with high quality beef."

The ICA does not believe that retail meat prices in the U.S. are too high. Williams pointed out that in 1950, 2.6 percent of the average American income bought 60 pounds of meat. In 1973, he said, 2.7 percent of the average income purchased 117 pounds of meat.

"What people in towns the size of Houston don't realize is that they're paying more for beef now than they were during the meat boycott—and we were getting 60 cents a pound then."

"We just don't think that if we get 45 or 50 cents a pound today, the beef prices at the supermarket have to go up."

Williams noted that a Wall Street Journal survey found that during the third quarter of 1974, the profits of U.S. grocery chains increased 115.4 percent.

"THE PACKERS and the middlemen are making more than their share," he said. "It's about time the rancher gets a decent price."

Williams stressed that the ICA wants to cooperate with other farm organizations.

"We hope they join us, because there's no other marketing association."

He also said that the group does not frown on the high price of U.S. grain.

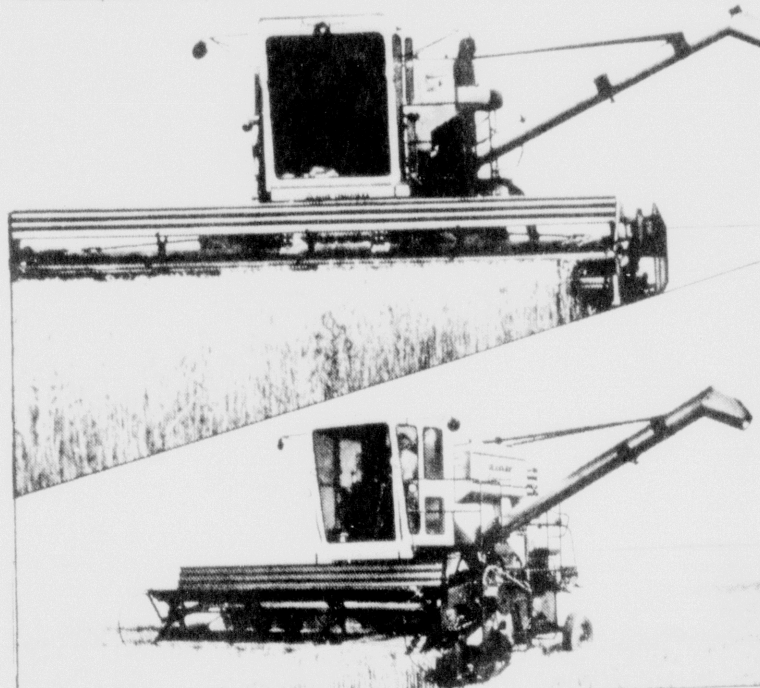

"Grain is the only thing holding this country up," Williams said. "We're not knocking grain—we just want to bring beef up to a higher level."

THE NEXT MEETING of the Williamson County Independent Cattlemen's Association is slated for December 5 at 7:30 at the Jonah School.

First Baptist to host Thanksgiving service

Father Charles Davis of St. Helen's Catholic Church will give the sermon at Georgetown's annual Ecumenical Thanksgiving service. The service will be held at 7:30 p. m. Wednesday at the First Baptist Church. Persons of all faiths are invited.

Other ministers participating in the service include Al Cummins, First Baptist; Tom Graves, First United Methodist; Bob Zacharias, Christ Lutheran; Warren Hall, First Presbyterian; and Bill Metting, St. Peter Lutheran.

Special music will be performed by the First Baptist Choir.

A special offering is taken at the service to provide a fund for destitute persons who are traveling through Georgetown. The fund purchases food, gasoline or other necessities for persons in need.

Members of the Georgetown Ministerial Association which sponsor the service are Assembly of God, Crestview Baptist, First Baptist, Gay Hill Baptist, St. Helen's Catholic, Church of Christ, Grace Episcopal, Evangelical Free Church, Christ Lutheran, St. Peter Lutheran, Zion Lutheran, First United Methodist, Gethsemane United Methodist, St. John's United Methodist and First Presbyterian.

Historical marker to be unveiled

The First Baptist Church of Liberty Hill will unveil its historical marker on November 24 at the close of the Sunday morning services.

The church is located on Loop 332 at Liberty Hill. Rev. Jesse Wilson is the pastor.

The unveiling ceremony will be a brief one, with Henry McLeod giving the dedicatory prayer.

The unveiling will mark the conclusion of a week of revival in the church.

Violations uncovered in Jarrell '74 audit

The 1973-74 audit of Jarrell School finances notes five procedural and record-keeping violations of Texas Education Agency guidelines.

Though Georgetown certified public accountant I. J. McCook Jr. labeled none of the violations "critical", Jarrell Superintendent Albert Lytle said the state agency "will shower us with fire and brimstone."

Unlike the audit at the Leander School—where District Attorney Bill Connor is investigating $3700 worth of "financial irregularities"—McCook accounted for every nickel of the $227,604 the Jarrell Independent School District spent during the fiscal year ending August 31.

The Jarrell audit, accepted by school trustees Wednesday night, states that the $2000 bond on the school tax assessor-collector fell almost $800 short of the minimum bond allowed for JISD by law.

McCook explained that the Texas Education Agency requires each school district to bond its tax collector for twice the amount of any daily tax collection.

"On one day during the school year, however, he was presented with a tax payment of $1389—more than half of the bond," McCook said.

The accountant termed the insufficient bond "an innocent procedural error," and recommended that the school board increase Vrabel's bond to $4000.

Superintendent Lytle issued the "fire and brimstone" prediction at Wednesday's board meeting.

"TEA (Texas Education Agency) will come down hard on us for not having sufficient bonding for our largest daily deposit," Lytle said.

He added that only one account on Jarrell's tax rolls last year exceeded the $1000 mark—the amount Vrabel could legally accept with a $2000 bond.

LYTLE URGED trustees to increase the tax collector's bond to $4000.

Besides the insufficient bond, the audit report contended that:

—Construction fund expenditures totaling $405 were overlooked when the school board amended the 1973-74 budget in August.

—Although proper accounts for revenue and expenditures were maintained, JISD kept no property records or general ledger accounts.

—The auditor could not find proper records for receipt or expenditures of Elementary-Secondary Education Act money in the compensatory fund.

—THE MAJOR AMOUNT of principal and interest on short term loans was paid from the interest and sinking fund, in violation of the rule that sinking fund expenditures are restricted to bond retirement and bond interest and expense," McCook stated.

Later, the auditor told the SUN that the violations "are not critical. They are nobody's evil design—just procedural errors."

He added that JISD "is not financially strong, but I don't know of a school district that is."

Though not included in the audit report, McCook commended the Jarrell School tax collector's data processing procedures and tax rolls.

"THE SAME FINANCIAL RECORDS and requirements for a school district the size of Houston are required for one the size of Jarrell," the auditor said. "And that doesn't give the small districts much leeway."

School trustees are required by law to send the audit by December 1 to TEA, the state education agency that has twice warned JISD of violations of accreditation standards.

First-year Superintendent Albert Lytle complained to the school board Wednesday that "I had no idea we had $405 left in our construction fund."

JISD borrowed $16,000 from the Citizens National Bank of Cameron for construction, Lytle said. "Nobody told me we hadn't spent it all."

Because the $405 was overlooked, auditor McCook said he had to answer a TEA questionnaire that JISD did not properly amend its budget.

Addressing himself to the school district's insufficient property records, Superintendent Lytle said, "We must have a record of every piece of property this school district owns."

"We need cost and replacement figures on our buildings, our desks—every bit of property," he told the school board.

"THIS IS A MOST SERIOUS VIOLATION," he added.

Lytle said he could find the replacement values for school-owned property, "but I don't know where to look for some of these records."

As for lack of book-keeping for the ESEA funds, auditor McCook explained, "Although there were apparently only two expenditures during the year, we could locate nothing for records except bank statements and copies of reports to TEA."

"It is necessary that the district establish the proper records for this source of funds and incorporate general ledger accounts, including property records, in order to comply with the accounting requirements of the Texas Education Agency," McCook continued.

JISD received $6568 in federal ESEA funds last year, and spent $554 for library supplies, the auditor said.

"ALL I HAD TO JUSTIFY the account were two cancelled checks and a bank statement—which to me is sufficient, because they spent so little out of the fund," McCook said.

"But to the TEA, that's not adequate."

Superintendent Lytle said he has already implemented acceptable record-keeping procedures for the fund this year.

In a questionnaire the auditor completed for the Texas Education Agency, McCook answered the question, "Were the records of the local education agency maintained in a manner to allow an expeditious audit," with a "no."

"Those questions are harsh—they don't allow any room for an explanation," the auditor said.

McCook advised the school board to drop outdated personal property taxes from the JISD delinquent tax roll.

The tax roll now shows 11,803 in delinquent taxes, including $1930 in taxes owed on assessments before 1965.

The auditor explained that the amount of personal property taxes on the delinquent roll is minimal.

"By far, the majority of delinquent taxes is in real estate. There's not much use in keeping the personal property taxes on the roll after five years."

"IT'S DIFFICULT—if not impossible—to collect delinquent personal property taxes after a while. What the use in carrying $2.60 on a 1955 Ford automobile year after year?"

The audit showed that in 1973-74, JISD accepted $215,118 in revenues, and spent $227,604, for a net expenditure of $12,486.

Because the school district started the year with $31,365, JISD finished on August 31 at $18,879 in the black.

Superintendent Lytle said that if the district had collected just $567 more in taxes, "we would have broken even," because of additional state aid.
